Ike Will Board Carrier for Jet Naval Exercises

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will go aboard the Navy's newest carrier, the 60,000-ton U. S. S. Saratoga, for training exercises off the coast of Florida June 6-7.

Eisenhower will board the new ship at her home port, Mayport, Fla., and spend most of two days at sea, watching the Navy's second angled deck carrier put her jet fighters and twin-jet bombers through training paces.

The announcement of the President's forthcoming voyage came as Eisenhower prepared to discuss disarmament here at his vacation headquarters with Harold E. Stassen, head of the American delegation to the currently recessed London disarmament talks.

Stassen is scheduled to arrive here tonight from Washington and confer at 8 a.m. Tuesday with the President at the Augusta National Golf Club. Stassen will fly back to Washington immediately after his talk with Eisenhower and confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before leaving by air for London early Tuesday afternoon.

In another international policy field, the President put his seal of approval on a major foreign policy speech to be delivered in New York today by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Disarmament Talks Recessed

The President studied a draft of the Dulles speech for at least two days and conferred with the secretary by long distance telephone twice over the week end, discussing phraseology to be employed in restating the broad outlines of this country's foreign policy in what the White House called "the field of collective security, mutual security and the efforts the United States has made to maintain justice and law in the world."

In prior international discussions on disarmament, Stassen has reported directly to the President, but in consultation with Dulles earlier this year, the President decided that Stassen in the future should work unedr Dulles.

As a consequence of this new

AFL-CIO Council Orders Boycott Ended in Akron

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said today the AFL-CIO executive council has ordered the Sheet Metal Workers International Assn. to end a boycott against the Burt Manufacturing Co. Akron, Ohio, employes of which are represented by the steel union.

McDonald had complained to the council last November that the Sheet Metal Workers were endeavoring to force the Burt company to withdraw recognition of the USW by refusing to install ventilating conduits made by the company.

According to McDonald, a special subcommittee of the AFL-CIO executive council, which investigated the dispute, has issued a decision directing the Sheet Metal Workers to "cease and desist from any actions designed to impair the collective bargaining relationship of the USW with the Burt Manufacturing Co."

"The decision of the committee is most gratifying and sustains the position of the USW — that the boycott by the sheet metal workers was unfair to the workmen and the company," McDonald said.

Union Locals For Lights at Ends of Bridge

Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229, of Monessen, and Pittsburgh Steel Local 1187, of Allenport, have sent petitions to the state Highways Department requesting that traffic lights be installed on both the Monessen and North Charleroi sides of the Charleroi-Monessen bridge.

The petitions state that the constant flow of traffic across the bridge warrants the lights, particularly when shifts are being changed at the mills.

Stop signs at each end of the bridge control the traffic at present.

James Pascarella, zone committeeman from Local 1229, was in charge of circulating the petitions.

Lias Appeal Denied

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court refused today to examine an appeal by William G. (Big Bill) Lias, Wheeling, W. Va., gambler, who is fighting a 2-million dollar determination of income tax deficiences and penalties.

Steel Worker Twice Revived

MCKEESPORT, Pa. (UP)—Surgeons twice revived William Blakley, 51, unemployed steel worker, during the week end after he had "lost all signs of life."

Blakley was being examined in the emergency room of McKeesport Hospital for a general complaint of "pains in the chest" when his heart stopped.

Doctors made an incision into his chest and massaged his heart until it resumed beating. Several minutes later, he again lost all pulse and blood pressure and the surgeons once again restored his heart beat by massage.

He was reported still in serious condition today.

Two Pedestrians Hit In Local Accidents

Two pedestrians reportedly were uninjured in two of the six traffic accidents in Monessen during the Easter weekend, police reports revealed today.

Little Gary Beck, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Beck, Jr., of 11 Washington Dr., was struck by a station wagon near his home about 11 a. m. Saturday. The operator of the car, Charles Beaumariage, of 14 Monessen Blvd., took the boy to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for examination. He suffered no injuries, it was reported.

The other pedestrian, John Hassick, 67, of 804 Donner Ave., also suffered no apparent injuries after being struck by a car at 12:35 a. m. yesterday on Eighth St. Andrew Shrader, of 417 Third St., driver of the car, took Hassick to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for x-rays. Hassick was not admitted.

Minor damage resulted when a car driven by Carolina Carson, of 600 McKean Ave., Charleroi, was involved in a mishap at the intersection of Third St. and Schoonmaker Ave. with a car operated by Edward Mogart, of 30 Pacific Blvd. The accident happened about 7:45 p. m. Saturday.

Last night about 7 o'clock, a car operated by Sylvia Elias, of 170 Schoonmaker Ave., was involved in an accident at First St. and Schoonmaker Ave. with a car driven by Joseph Molle, of Penndale, Pa. Little damage resulted, it was stated.

Gloria Evans, of 212 East Schoonmaker Ave., was attempting to park a car Friday night when it struck a parked car belonging to John Duronio, of 508 Tenth St. Damage again was slight.

In the sixth accident, a car operated by Paul Battiste, of 204 Knox Ave., was traveling between Fifth and Sixth streets on Schoonmaker Ave. Saturday afternoon when it struck the rear of a car driven by Raniero Ciocca, of 623 Marguerite St. The front grill and left headlight of the Battiste car were damaged. Ciocca's car was only slightly damaged.

Millions Attend Easter Church Services Sunday

By UNITED PRESS

Millions of Americans led by President and Mrs. Eisenhower, attended Easter church services Sunday, and thousands of other persons worshipped out-of-doors at sunrise services.

Except for the Southwest, generally fair skies encouraged church attendance and added sparkle to the spring finery displayed in the traditional Easter parades.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower attended Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church in Augusta, Ga., where the nation's first family is vacationing. They were accompanied by Treasury Secretary and Mrs. George M. Humphrey, weekend guests of the President.

About 1,200,000 persons jammed New York's Fifth Ave. from 49th to 59th streets in the nation's biggest Easter parade. Sunny skies and temperatures in the 80s attracted the huge throngs. About 350 policemen were on hand to keep order.

Chilly readings in Chicago thinned the ranks of paraders on Michigan Ave. and in some other cities, notably in the Southwest, an umbrella was a necessary accessory to Easter outfits.

The first sunrise service was atop Cadillac Mountain near Bar Harbor, Maine, where the sun's rays first touch the nation. Several hundred persons attended the service, sponsored by the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Bar Harbor Congregational Church.

A downpour near Lawton, Okla., cut attendance at the Wichita Mountains Easter pageant. Creeks and streams overflowed their banks and flooded parking areas for the program.

Chamber Officials To Attend Clinic

Representatives of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce will leave today for a clinic tomorrow in Cleveland, O.

Scheduled to make the trip are Joseph Friedland, Norman Henderson, Glenn Barnes and George Cieply.

The business modernization clinic is being sponsored by the West Penn and General Electric companies, along with several other firms.

District Lions in Banquet Tonight

John L. Stickley, president of Lions International, will be principal speaker tonight at the Lions District 14-E banquet sponsored by the Monessen Lions Club at Twin Coaches.

William F. Essey, local president, will give the welcome address and introduce Stickley. David Victoria and Ross Aeillo are local committeemen.

ATTENTION ELKS
Meet at club 7:45 p. m. Tuesday to go to pay respects to Brother Daniel Leibgeber.

Legion meeting tomorrow night at McKee Post.

Easter Promenade Big Success

A short-lived light sprinkle of rain went unheeded yesterday afternoon as large throngs of Monessen residents, bedecked in their finest Easter finery, leisurely strolled along downtown streets in the second annual Easter Promenade.

Large white billowy clouds far outnumbered the smaller dark ones and bright piercing rays of the sun dried up the raindrops a split second after they hit the sun-soaked streets.

Immortal artist Van Gogh would have marveled at the blending assortment of beautiful colors that caught the eye as the Easter paraders walked the avenues.

There were many adults in the parade but it was the little lads and little lasses who stole the picturesque show.

The little girls were particularly stunning in their straw hats with colorful streamers, refreshing looking dresses, snug-fitting colored ankelets and brightly polished shoes.

The little boys, much to their noticeable chagrin, were little gentlemen despite the look in their eyes which reflected disgust at the whole affair. One could easily tell they would rather shun the shirt and tie and pressed suit for a T-shirt and pair of dungarees.

Teenage and adult women were resplendent in their attire. Light dresses and suits were the uniforms of the day, along with a scintillating array of hats that would make Hedda Hopper envious.

The women strolled along like proud peacocks. And, as usual, it was their hats that stole the show. They ranged from the giant cartwheel type to some that resem-

Warns Russians Their Atomic Threats Useless

NEW YORK (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles issued a clear-cut warning to the Soviet Union today that its campaign of atomic threats against U. S. allies will never shatter the free world alliance.

". . . Such Soviet assaults will not disintegrate the free world," he declared in his first major foreign policy speech since Oct. 27, 1956.

"Collective measures are here to stay."

At the same time Dulles called for an East-West agreement on disarmament by "steps carefully measured and carefully taken." He said modern weapons have such "vast destructive power" there would be "no real victor" in any general war.

Dulles' speech, prepared for delivery to the Associated Press annual luncheon and carried to the nation by radio and television, was billed by the White House as a "major" foreign policy pronouncement. In it he also:

—Called anew for "liberation" of Soviet satellite nations but said this country does "not incite violent revolt" by the satellites; "rather we encourage an evolution to freedom." He said freedom of the satellites is sought "not in order to circle Russia with hostile forces" but because otherwise "peace is in jeopardy and freedom a mockery."

Must Stay Strong

—Said the chief deterrent to aggression is U. S. "mobile retaliatory power" that must be "vast in . . . its potential." But he added the "extent to which it would be used would. . . depend on circumstances." He also said it would be "imprudent to risk everything" on "one aspect of military power" and that the nation must have balanced land, sea and air forces for "local action" and defense.

—Warned of Soviet "intrigue" in the Middle East and pledged the United States to seek a "durable" peace based on "justice and the rule of law" in the trouble-ridden Holy Land area. He said this cannot be done "quickly or all at once."

—Put in a strong plug for the Administration's economy-threatened foreign aid program, asserting Americans will have to pay for "vastly" bigger national defenses if the cooperation of U. S. allies is ended.

Dulles' speech was approved in advance by President Eisenhower. It followed a string of recent Moscow declarations to France, Norway, Greece, Turkey, Denmark, Spain and other American

Sovet Revolt Ready to Break, Rebel Claims

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vladimir Poremsky, Russian underground leader, said Sunday night that a revolution could explode in Russia "very soon."

Poremsky said chances of a revolt in the Soviet Union "are increasing every day." He said such a view is "not just wishful thinking."

There are many signs pointing to a common upheaval of the people of Russia, he said. He said there is unrest among workers, students, soldiers, writers and intellectuals and that "for the first time in our history there are strikes."

Poremsky is a leader in the underground organizations, "NTS," which works inside Russia and its Communist satellites.

He said on a television program that unrest in military ranks was a good indication that a successful revolution was possible.

Poremsky was arrested by the Germans in World War II and sent to a concentration camp. In 1955 he was marked for assassination by the Communists.

Cancer Research Projects Lost In Chemical Fire

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —A four-alarm fire Sunday destroyed important cancer research projects and threatened a top secret Air Force nuclear project in a chemical laboratory at the University of Pennsylvania.

More than 200 police and firemen risked the possibility of radioactivity and exploding chemicals in battling acrid fumes, heavy smoke and flames. Security guards stopped firemen from entering an adjoining building in which the nuclear project was located because of the possibility of radiation.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, broke out in the middle wing of the John Harrison laboratory, an E-shaped, three story structure. The top floor, housing the cancer experiments, was wrecked and the first and second floors were badly damaged by water.

The Air Force project, known as "Big Ben," was in the basement of an adjoining structure. Dr. Claude Diescher, chairman of the University's Chemistry Department, said the cancer research experiments "undoubtly were ruined."

Veteran firemen described the blaze as "one of the hottest" in their experience.

Accident Victim Changes Hospital

William Hall, 36, of R. D., Belle Vernon, who was injured in a traffic accident last week, has been transferred from Charleroi-Monessen Hospital to West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh. He is described as still being in a critical condition.

A man and wife, Dale and Audrey Jean Lynn, of R. D. 2, Belle Vernon, who were also injured in a crash last week, have been taken off the critical list and are reported improving at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Seven Hurt in Three Area Traffic Accidents

Seven persons, including four from Monessen, were injured in three separate district traffic accidents over the Easter weekend.

Two Monessen young women and a Charleroi man were taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital early Sunday morning for injuries received in an accident on Route 31 about four miles east of Monongahela.

Jeannie Hughes, 20, of 25 East Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen, was admitted to the hospital with a possible skull fracture, possible fractures of both legs and minor lacerations and bruises. Attendants today said she is in "fair" condition.

Joann Rodgers, 18, of 131 McKee Ave., Monessen, was released after treatment for bruises about the left arm and thigh. The driver, Robert Pelzer, 21, of R. D., Charleroi, suffered an ankle injury. He was also released.

Oliver Harman, 56, and his wife, Anna, 54, of 42 East Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen, were treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital shortly after 2 a. m. yesterday for injuries suffered in an auto mishap on a highway near Irwin. Both were treated for minor injuries and released.

Electric service was interrupted in the Florence area, near Washington, for nearly two hours yesterday when a car went out of control on Route 22, and sheared off two utility poles.

Reports said Mike Globosky, 19, of Allasburg, the driver, and Sherman Waddell, 17, of 163 State St., Speers Hill, were taken to Weirton General Hospital, Weirton, W. Va., with multiple lacerations and bruises. They are in satisfactory condition.

Major Crisis in Jordan; Troop Rumors Denied

Egyptian Papers Carry Stories of Sunday Rioting

By UNITED PRESS

Egypt's semi-official Middle East news agency reported today that Iraqi troops had moved into Jordan opposite Syrian troops, but Iraq flatly denied the reports.

The news agency, owned by the Egyptian government, also said President Shukri El-Kuwatli of Syria had warned King Hussein of Jordan of the possibility of a clash.

After hours of silence Baghdad issued a denial. Khalil Ibrahim, director general of national guidance, said the reports were "categorically untrue."

Egyptian newspapers carried the agency report in headlines across the top of the front page and told of rioting and demonstrations in Jordan today and Sunday.

It was clear that a major crisis existed in Jordan, but its nature was not clear. Jordan itself imposed an iron censorship on all military moves.

Israel was studying the situation closely, but Israeli sources said reports of troop movements into Jordan often were exaggerated. It was noted that the agency is an Egyptian one and that keeping the pot boiling in Jordan would be of advantage to Egypt.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir has warned that it will take action if foreign troops entering Jordan change the status quo in a manner detrimental to Israel.

The Middle East news agency touched off fear and apprehension in Washington where officials said they believed the Jordan situation represented the greatest possible danger to world peace. They expressed fear the situation might degenerate into an Arab-Israeli war.

The Egyptian agency said Kuwatli telephoned Hussein to ask the young, pro-Western monarch "to give special attention to the question for fear of clashes occurring between Iraqi and Syrian troops."

An earlier dispatch from Cairo told of the supercharged atmosphere in Jordan and the possibility of open fighting.

Jordan itself imposed a firm censorship. The last dispatch from Amman Sunday night told of a rift in the new cabinet between Premier Hussein Khalidi and Foreign Minister Suleiman Nabulsi, who was ousted as premier by the King.

There was no confirmation so far from Baghdad, Damascus or Amman of the Egyptian news agency reports. Censorship apparently was in effect in both Iraq and Syria—the nations whose opposing loyalties to east and west pose a major threat to Jordan's uneasy status.

Heavy Earthquake Shakes Colombia

BOGOTA (UP) — Colombia's worst earthquake in seven years shook the northern and eastern portions of this country Sunday, rocking tall buildings and causing panics in some places.

There was no report of casualties or serious damage.

The quake, which occurred about 4 p.m., centered 225 miles north of here. It was felt in the northeastern cities of Bucaramanga, Pamplona and Cucuta and in the central mountains.

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom charged today that Gov. George M. Leader wanted to destroy the GOP "hold the line" tax program for "purely political reasons."

Soviet Postal System Rated Very Versatile

By COLLETTE BLACKMOORE

MOSCOW (UP)—The Russian post office system is one of the most versatile and hard-working public services in the world, although not necessarily the most efficient.

Most of the employes are women.

The post office will transmit a photograph or pen-and-ink drawing in the same manner as a telegram, accept magazine subscriptions and collect television license fees. Television fans pay for the privilege of owning a set here.

The postwomen deliver the mail twice a day, seven days a week.

For a girl graduating from high school there's some advantage in becoming a postwoman. She doesn't have to maintain a stylish wardrobe because the uniform of dark blue serge trimmed with brass buttons is compulsory.

She's fairly certain of keeping her figure, too, because an eight-hour work day usually involves miles of walking.

The average Russian post office employe works either from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. or from noon to 8 p.m. for about $125 a month, at the official rate of exchange.

The average employe in other lines of work receives about $200 a month.

Foreigners are often astonished at the wealth of services provided by the Soviet post office. Foreign correspondents soon become accustomed to being awakened in the middle of the night by a cheerful post office girl reading a cable from London or New York.

A few minutes later, the cable is delivered by an energetic team, usually consisting of a smiling young man driving a car and an elderly woman who sometimes dashes up four flights of stairs with the message in hand.

Permanent foreign residents are even more mystified by the way they continue to receive mail, even if it is wrongly addressed.

Sometimes they change their apartment without notifying the authorities, but somehow they get their mail just the same.

Reuther Wants To Kick Out Teamsters Group

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther has advised kicking the Teamsters Union out of the AFL-CIO if the Teamsters organization is not cleaned up.

Reuther, also head of the United Auto Workers, said the AFL-CIO should give "decent elements" with the Teamsters an opportunity to clean house.

If this is not done, he said, the Teamsters should be expelled from the parent organization and a rival union created to embrace non-corrupt rank and file members.

He said Teamsters President Dave Beck's admission that he borrowed some $300,000 of Teamsters funds for personal use "makes him unfit to hold a position of leadership in the labor movement."

"The AFL-CIO will not compromise with corruption," Reuther said.

Reuther said Sunday on a television program (Face the Nation, CBS) that the AFL-CIO had "very sound and firm" grounds as spelled out in the AFL-CIO constitution for bringing corruption charges against Beck and the union.

relationship, Stassen reported to Dulles in Washington Saturday and, according to press secretary James C. Hagerty, Dulles suggested to the President that he hear from Stassen first-hand the recent developments in London, particularly the more hopeful prospects of reaching an area of tangible agreement with the Russians on the complicated question of disarmament.

Stassen informed Dulles that the current talks were the "most serious" involving Russia since shortly after the end of World War II when the so-called cold war began to show on the international horizon.

But the disarmament adviser also was reported from Washington to have advised only a qualified attitude toward current trends, pointing out that many problems remained to be settled before there could be substantial progress toward genuine disarmament.

Philip Murray Foundation Is Out of Business

WASHINGTON (UP)—The AFL-CIO reported today that the Philip Murray Foundation has gone out of existence after distributing a total of $963,204 to 30 religious, charitable and educational organizations.

The fund was established four years ago, mainly through contributions of union members, in memory of the late CIO president.

The fund's biggest grant, $200,000 went to the National Council of Churches of Christ of the United States and Canada. Other grants included $150,000 to the Roselia Foundling and Maternity Hospital of Pittsburgh and $75,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Arthur J. Goldberg, director of the fund and general counsel of the United Steelworkers, said in announcing the final distribution figures:

"The Philip Murray Memorial Foundation has accomplished its two-fold goals: Helping to perpetuate the name of Philip Murray . . . and providing funds to assist a variety of organizations and institutions which, in their own ways, are serving the cause of human dignity—the philosphy of Philip Murray.

Murray was head of the steel union from its inception in 1936 until his death in 1952. Prior to organizing the steel union, he was a district president of the United Mine Workers.

bled pancakes. Nonetheless, all were eye-appealing.

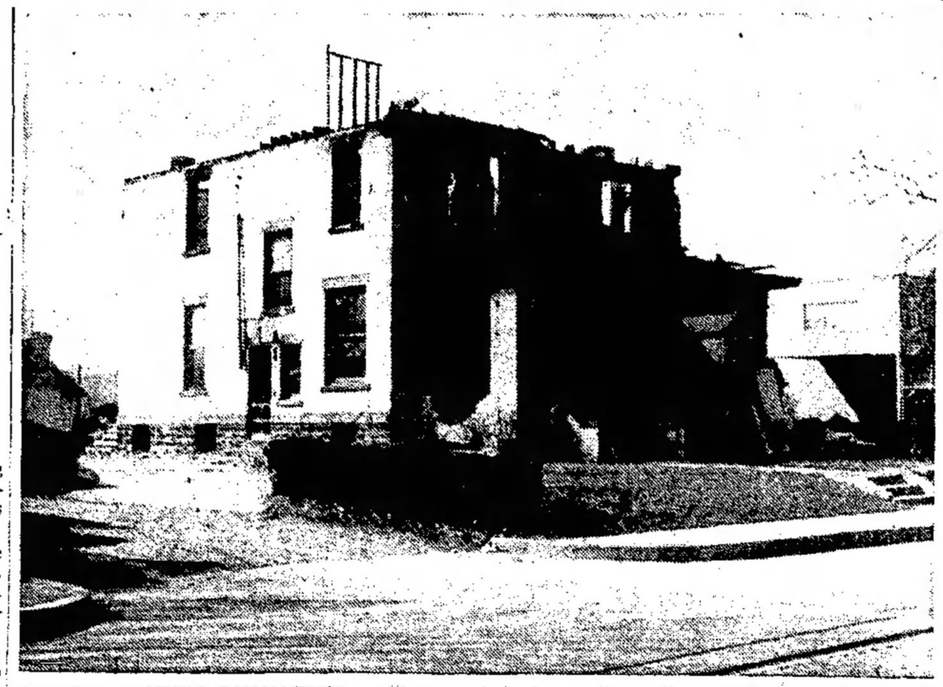
Men who made the "command march" with their wives and children were neat-looking in new or freshly pressed suits. One could tell they would prefer to be home watching the Pittsburgh Pirate-Brooklyn Dodger baseball game on television.

All in all, the Promenade, sponsored by the Merchants Division of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce, was a success.

Edward Lhota, general chairman, said a group of unidentified judges, paraded with the paraders and awarded $5 merchandise certificates to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCraw, Gary and Gloria Cope, Richard Triggiani, Tommy Todaro, Mary Ann D'Alonzo, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wotkowski, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Skirpan, Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fordanich and family, Stella Alessio, Mary, Margaret, and Ruth Butler, Patty and Connie Arcuri, Toni Frank, Dianne and Bobby Coccari, Robert, Roger and Edwin Buck (triplets.

Also Mrs. Josephine Major, Frank Janosik, Antoinetti and Joyce Smoke, Elaine Valdozzi, Nina Moschetti, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Major, Mr. and Mrs. Mathiam Rajokovich, Mrs. Germaine Lhota, Albert Lascanic, Marla Ann Swallow, Janet Leone, Joy Janosik, Bobby Novotne, Bill Essey and family, Alice Lancas, Mary Jane Major, Karen and Betty Ann Cieply, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Burger and Jane Todaro, all of Monessen, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Travalena and family, and Annette Jones, all of Belle Vernon.



LANDMARK BEING DISMANTLED — Workmen have begun dismantling a Belle Vernon landmark, the former home of Dr. J. M. Gemmill at 722 Broad Ave. The property was purchased last summer by the Bell Telephone Co. Plans call for a new telephone dial system building to be erected in the near future.

Dulles said "the men in the Kremlin stole, one by one, the independence of a dozen nations" and Soviet rulers would prefer the free nations to be weak and divided.

Dulles arrived here from Washington by military air transport plane accompanied by Andrew Burding, assistant secretary in charge of public affairs.

Dulles' speech was written in close cooperation with President Eisenhower, who put his seal of approval on it. It was Dulles' first major address since he offered American economic assistance to rebelling Iron Curtain countries in a speech at Dallas, Tex., last October.

Four Lost on Flying Boxcar

TOKYO (UP)—A U.S. Air Force C119 Flying Boxcar cargo plane crashed in southern Japan today with four men aboard and one of two helicopters that went to investigate also crashed, an Air Force spokesman announced.

The cargo plane crashed near the steel town of Yawata in Kyushu Japan's southernmost island, Monday afternoon. The fate of the four men aboard the plane was not known, the spokesman said.

He said Japanese police reported that one of two H19 'copters that took off from the Itazuuke U.S. Air Base to investigate the accident also crashed.

Says Shapiro Broke Word on Allocations

HARRISBURG (UP)—A state Senate Republican leader today charged state Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro broke his word to the Legislature "almost before the ink was dry" on his 1955-57 appropriation.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Senate president pro tem, said Shapiro wrote him in May, 1956, that unless the Senate restored $726,000 to the Eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institution allocation "we Republicans would be cutting the heart out of the state's program for training needed personnel for our mental hospitals and similar institutions."

Taylor said after the appropriation was restored and enacted into law Shapiro himself cut the funds by more than one million dollars and set up an entirely new program for mental health work.

The veteran GOP leader said "now that the Senate has told Secretary Shapiro to go back and live up to the agreement under which he got the money in the first place, we are accused again of cutting the heart out of his program."

The Senate recently approved and sent to the House a bill to eliminate the Welfare Department program under which the state pays salaries and tuition to some 54 psychiatric trainees and social workers at universities and colleges in return for pledges to work at state institutions.

Taylor said other legislation provides for mental health research and training at both eastern and western psychiatric institutions. He said if the people want to know "who is sabotaging mental health, they should take a real close look at Gov. George M. Leader's budget.

He said Shapiro asked for nearly a 100 per cent increase to run his "swank new offices" here while Harrisburg State Hospital would receive only $4,000 more in the 1957-59 budget.

Many Accidents Over Easter

At Least 14 Killed In Traffic

By UNITED PRESS

The most pleasant weekend weather of the year brought heavy traffic onto Pennsylvania highways during the Easter holiday period and, as a result, there were numerous accidents.

A United Press survey showed at least 14 persons met death in automobile mishaps between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday. In addition, two persons drowned in a boating accident.

John L. O'Dowd and Thomas Ehrhorn, both of New Cumberland, were thrown into the Susquehanna River and drowned when their small craft capsized.

The traffic fatalities:

Waynesburg: Two persons were killed and 12 others injured in separate accidents on U.S. 19 near Waynesburg. Mrs. Grace Goughenour, 56, Amity RD 1, died three hours after the car in which she was riding was involved in a head-on collision Saturday night. Mrs. Goughenour's son, driver of one of the cars; his wife, and four of the couple's children were injured. Randal Harris, 5, Cleveland, was killed Sunday when his mother apparently fell asleep at the wheel. Mrs. Harris, her husband, two other children, and both her parents were injured.

Collegeville: Lynwood J. Coleflesh, 20, Eagleville, Montgomery County, was killed and two others were injured Sunday when their automobile swerved off Germantown Pike at Evansburg and struck two trees. The injured were Robert W. Lehman, and George D. Sullwell, both 18 and both from Collegeville.

Lancaster: Two sailors were killed and another man was fatally injured Sunday in a two-car crash on the Oregon Pike near Lancaster. Killed were Seaman Apprentices Irvin D. Selig, 19, Allentown, and Thomas Rigley, Baltimore. Police said the sailors were riding in a car which smashed into another driven by Nathan Reich, 43, Brooklyn, who died in Lancaster General Hospital.

New Kensington: Leon Ricail, 32, Cheswick, RD 1, was killed Sunday, in a two-car accident on Route 28 near New Kensington. Lowell Wright, 21, Pittsburgh, a passenger in the other automobile, was seriously injured.

Pittsburgh: Edward Durkin, 27, Sharpsburg, died after an automobile in which he was a passenger ran out of control and plunged into Pine Creek in suburban Etna. Thomas Dillon, Etna, the driver, was hospitalized.

Lancaster: Clair Blantz, 14, Mt Joy, was killed Sunday night when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Eli J. Yoder, New Holland, on Harrisburg Pike by-pass eight miles west of Lancaster.

Scranton: Mrs. Agnes Howell 63, Scranton, was killed and eight others were injured in a head-on collision 20 miles north of Scranton Sunday. Mrs Harry Dale, 76, Scranton, and Caroline Clark, 14 Tunkhannock, were listed in critical condition at Moses Taylor Hospital.

Glenside: Charles Y. Gerhard, 89, suffered fatal injuries when struck by a car in Glenside Sunday night. Police said the car was driven by Ronald E. Gono, Reading RD 2.

Warren: Calvin L. Warner, 23, Corry, was killed Sunday when his car ran off a curve on Pa. 27 and crashed into a tree at Pittsfield, near Warren.

Ridgway: Laverne Prechtl, 24, Johnsonburg, was killed and another man injured seriously Friday night when their motorcycle failed to negotiate a curve on Pa 120 between St. Marys and Emporium and struck a culvert. Fred Gardner, 23, Daguscanonda, Elk County, was taken to Caul Memorial Hospital.

Pittsburgh: Mrs Evelyn R. Mosula, 32, Turtle Creek, was killed Saturday night when a car in which she was a passenger crashed into another vehicle on the Penn-Lincoln Parkway East near Pittsburgh. Four occupants of the second car were injured.

'Drys' Have Hero in Oregon Congressman

WASHINGTON (UP) — The "drys" have served on a Capitol Hill hero in the person of Rep. Walter Norblad.

But the Oregon Republican said today he doesn't intend to assume the role of a temperance champion.

Norblad, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, kicked up a fuss last September about the Army allowing teenaged recruits to buy beer on its posts.

His one-man fight was climaxed by a Pentagon order in February reminding post commanders that beer should not be sold to trainees who are between 17 and 18½ years old.

Norblad estimated today he has received more than a thousand letters of congratulations. They came from all sections of the country and the volume rivals the stacks of "cut-the-budget" letters he gets from his own district, he said.

"How we praise God for men like you who recognize the awful evil of strong drink," a Kingsville, Ohio, woman wrote.

Another woman from Miami Springs, Fla., said Norblad's campaign would help insure that military men have "clear heads."

Others begged Norblad to go a step further and have liquor completely banned from military posts.

But Norblad said he has made his point and doesn't plan to press the matter any further unless evidence turns up that the Army order against serving beer to younger trainees is being violated.

Jerry Lewis Is Given Chills by Burglary Suspect

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Comedian Jerry Lewis said today that he was cold but not frightened when he held a burglary suspect at gunpoint for ten minutes Saturday night while his wife and children were watching television.

Lewis said he got his gun and guarded the suspect, identified as George W. Sheffield, until police arrived.

"I was ready to shoot to protect my family," Lewis said. "I held him at gunpoint for ten minutes, half frozen to death. All I had on was a 'T' shirt and trousers."

Lewis said Sheffield came to his home earlier and made remarks about "killing people." The comedian said he ordered him to leave and then got his gun. Lewis' wife and children were unaware of what was happening.

Sheffield was booked and later jailed on suspicion of burglary. Lewis said police told him that the suspect had a burglary record.

St. Luke's to Get New Pastor May 5

A new pastor will be installed at St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church on Sunday, May 5, it was announced today.

He is the Rev. Mathias Joensun, of Hibbing, Minn. Installing pastor will be the Rev. Henry Kangas, of St. Mark's Lutheran Church Warren, Ohio.

Plans for the installation were discussed last Thursday at a meeting of the January through June birthday club.

Boy Admits to Paying Off Young Terrorists

NEW YORK (UP)—A 15-year-old boy, terrified by threats to his mother and sister, took so much money from his father's grocery to pay four teenaged extortionists that he almost bankrupted the business, it was revealed Sunday.

When Raymond Quinones learned that the $60 to $80 a week he paid the four bullies for a year had all but broken his father, he went to the police. The payments had totalled more than $4,000, he said.

Raymond said the shakedown began a year ago when he was approached by John J. Gebbia, 18, and another youth, who threatened him and demanded $5.

Raymond gave them the money and they returned three days later with another youth to demand $15. This time, they said, they threatened to kill his mother, Esperanza, 37, and his 14-year-old sister, Guonnes.

The four youths so terrified Raymond that he regularly paid them on three days of every week, he told police.

Raymond's father, Raymon, 40, told his family at breakfast Saturday that he was almost bankrupt and would have to sell the store. Raymond realized his payoffs had caused the family's financial difficulties so he went to the police.

Two detectives accompanied him to the store Saturday night and gave him marked bills to pay the extortioners. A 15-year-old boy showed up to make the collection. He was arrested outside with two other 15-year-olds.

They were booked as juvenile delinquents and named Gebbia as the leader. They also admitted the snakedown, police said.

Some Railway Express Drivers Are on Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—About 2,000 Teamsters Union drivers went on strike today at Railway Express company offices throughout the nation.

The walkout affected union drivers in Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and Newark, N.J. They struck to back demands for a pay boost and improved working conditions.

The company said it had notified the union that it was prepared to negotiate an agreement based on the findings of a presidential fact-finding board. The board, on March 1, recommended a three-year contract containing a 9-cent package wage increase and a cost of living escalator clause under which adjustments in wages would be geared to changes in the consumers' price index of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Tornadoes Injure 30 In Texas

By UNITED PRESS

A cluster of tornadoes roared across the south plains of Texas Sunday night, injuring more than 30 persons and causing heavy damage.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported that an unidentified Mexican was in a Levelland hospital "severely hurt." Two persons were in serious condition in Littlefield hospitals.

Many of the injured were treated at hospitals and then released.

Authorities expected the toll to climb higher. "There's a lot of injuries we'll find out about after daylight, and a lot of damage," said Department of Public Safety chief radio operator Bill Williams in Lubbock.

Williams said there "must have been a dozen or more" tornadoes. They lashed hardest around Littlefield, Levelland, Shallowater, and Whitharrel. Littlefield is the largest of the towns at 9,000 inhabitants.

20 Houses Damaged

More than 20 houses were damaged, more than half of them blown completely away. At one place near Levalland, motorists abandoned seven cars along a roadside to take refuge in a storm shelter, Williams said.

The tornado picked up all seven automobiles and hurled them half a mile from the spot where they were parked.

"There may be farmhouses out there we can't see at night. The only way we'll be able to find some of them, I'm afraid, is by the foundations," said Williams.

There was no telephone service into Littlefield, where many of the injured had been taken, and telephone company servicemen said it would probably be sometime this morning before service into the town of 9,000 is restored.

Three miles from Littlefield, motorists in five cars, unable to avoid the twister bearing down on them, hid in a cotton gin. The raging tornado shattered the gin around them like matchwood, injuring four.

PTA to Meet On Wednesday

The Monessen Parent Teacher Association will meet Wednesday evening in the High School auditorium. The session was postponed from last Wednesday because of Holy Week.

The program will feature the showing of a film, "A Teacher As Observer and Guide".

A dance specialty will be presented by Marsha Cenkner and the national anthem will be sung by DuBoise Carter accompanied by Mrs Robert Donnell.

Refreshments will be served by the homeroom mothers of the Junior-Senior High School.

A TRIUMPH OF COURAGE — Judith Ann White, 13, is shown at her home in Chelsea, Mass., shortly after leaving the Chelsea Naval Hospital. She was able to return home because of a medical miracle and unfailing courage. Last June 21 she was burned on over 72 percent of her body. She was warming a pan of milk for her puppy, when the gas flame touched her flimsy night clothing, turning her into a human torch. She has come through 11 operations and 79 skin grafts.

General Assembly to End Recess Tomorrow

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Republican-controlled General Assembly returns to work Tuesday after a 12-day Easter recess to face a decision on whether to step up an adjournment drive or stay in indefinite recess after current work is completed.

Gov. George M. Leader will also renew his attempts to pry the bulk of his ambitious legislative program loose from GOP-dominated committees.

Republicans have been coordinating their legislative activities to meet a goal of final adjournment by May 31 now that the tax program appears to be settled. But at least one GOP leader favors keeping the Legislature in recess after that date to forestall any possible move by the governor to bring them back later in a special session.

With the Legislature in recess only the presiding officers of each chamber, both Republicans, could recall the lawmakers.

The governor has not ruled out the possibility of a special session, but he contends it is "completely ridiculous" to even think about such a move at this time—until he sees what the current session does with his program.

The House Appropriations Committee plans to complete hearings on departmental budget requests this month and get in position to roll the General Appropriation Bill through during May. Movement of that measure to cover the costs of state government usually marks the final stages of an adjournment drive.

In the Senate, two highly controversial bills are on the work calendar.

One would rip out the state Highways Department and replace it with a three-member Pennsylvania Highways Commission, thus stripping the highways secretary of his powers and duties.

The other would provide a statewide referendum in November on the question of whether or not Pennsylvanians want pari-mutuel horse race betting. If the voters approved, enabling legislation would still be required by a future Legislature.

The Senate returns at 4 p.m. and the House at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania: Temperature will average seven to 10 degrees above normal. Warmer Wednesday. Cooler Thursday or Friday. Scattered showers and possibly thunderstorms Tuesday and Wednesday and again about Friday. Total precipitation one-half to three-quarters inch.

One-third of Income Going Towards Taxes

By ROBERT SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP)—The average American is paying out one-third of his income in taxes.

He probably has not calculated or realized this because so many of the taxes are hidden. They are included in the cost of things he buys.

The Tax Foundation has figured that this will be the true load in federal, state and local taxes—direct and hidden—for these average-bracket wage-earners in 1957:

Income	Total Taxes	Percent of Income
$3,500	$1,059	30
$4,500	$1,393	31
$8,000	$2,726	34

The Foundation said that while most Americans squawk about taxes, "they would probably yell even louder if they realized that the only source of taxes is people and the individual taxpayer is really paying much more for government than he thinks he is."

The Foundation pointed out that "every red cent that government spends must come from the taxpayer."

The fact of the matter is that corporations do not pay taxes—they collect them.

The big federal tax bite, amounting to 52 per cent of corporate earnings, is passed along in the form of higher prices, because no company could afford to absorb those taxes and stay in business.

The result, according to the Foundation, is that you—and you alone — pay taxes.

There are 100 taxes in the price of an egg, 116 in a man's suit, 151 in a loaf of bread, 600 in the cost of a house.

In addition to federal income and Social Security taxes, some 31 states have income tax laws and some 33 have retail sales taxes of from one to 3½ cents on each dollar of goods and services purchased. Most of these sales tax laws require that the tax be passed on to consumers.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce says the average taxpayer didn't start earning any money for himself until Feb. 1. He worked through January for Uncle Sam.

The chamber said the average taxpayer—the $5,000-a-year man with a wife and two children—spends 22 working days earning enough money to pay off his income taxes alone.

97 Degrees Reported

NEW YORK (UP)—The lowest temperature in the nation today was 22, at Flagstaff, Ariz., the U.S. Weather Bureau said. The highest reported Sunday was 97, at Presidio, Tex.

'Liberation' for Third Class Cities

ANOTHER attempt is being made in the present session of the State Assembly to correct a long-standing legal discrimination against Pennsylvania's 47 third class cities, of which Monessen is one.

These cities are the only municipalities in the state whose citizens are not permitted to choose their own form of local government. Unlike the other cities and unlike the boroughs and townships, the third class cities must adhere to the present commission plan of government.

The commission plan, in which the city council acts as both a legislative and an administrative body, has proven itself unnecessarily cumbersome and costly, and in recent years progressive communities all across the country have been discarding it for more efficient systems, chiefly the city manager form.

The National Municipal League reports that only 336 cities in the United States are still governed by the old commission plan and of these the largest single group is in Pennsylvania.

Clearly it is time something was done to correct this situation and to allow Pennsylvania's small and medium-sized cities take advantage of more modern forms of local government if their citizens so desire.

* * *

A BILL was introduced in the State Senate two months ago which would give the third class cities three forms of government from which their citizens could choose by referendum.

— They could continue the commission plan if they desire.

— They could adopt what is called the "strong-mayor council" form, of which the City of Pittsburgh is a close example. Under this form, the council is a purely legislative body, and the mayor, who is not a member of the council, is an executive fully responsible for the administration of all the departments.

— Finally, they could adopt the "council-manager" plan, under which the council also sits as a legislative and policy-making body but has no executive duties. These are handled by a manager, usually professionally trained in municipal administration. He is appointed by the council and can be removed by it by majority vote at any time. The mayor is chosen from among the members of the council and is primarily a ceremonial official.

* * *

IT WOULD be premature, of course, to embark on a discussion as to which of these plans might best suit the needs of Monessen or of any of the other third class cities. There would be ample time for that once Senate Bill 229, the measure referred to above, becomes law.

That's the rub just now. Similar bills have been before the Assembly in almost every session for the past 10 years. But while several have passed the House, none has ever passed the Senate.

SB 229 is now in the custody of the Senate Committee on Local Government, headed by Sen. George B. Stevenson, of Lock Haven, which is a third class city. Senator Stevenson is one of the sponsors of the bill and so presumably favors it. He deserves support in any efforts he may be making to have it favorably reported to the Senate floor for a vote.

The USW Returns

THE EXTENT of the revolt in the United Steelworkers union against the leadership of President David J. McDonald has now become more apparent with the release of official returns from the international election of Feb. 12.

According to the returns, Mr. McDonald received 404,172 votes to 223,516 for his rank-and-file opponent, Donald C. Rarick, of McKeesport.

Mr. McDonald, of course, did not come even close to being defeated. But that Mr. Rarick, of whom nobody had heard until a few months before the election, could amass a vote of such proportions can only mean that there was substantial dissatisfaction.

It may be significant, too, that the total vote for president was just about half of the total membership of the union. Which means, we assume, that despite the vigorous campaign between Mr. McDonald and Mr. Rarick, one out of every two members of the USW was not sufficiently interested to vote.

It seems obvious that Mr. Rarick's large vote was a protest, partly against the increase in monthly dues from $3 to $5 voted at the Los Angeles convention last summer and partly against Mr. McDonald's leadership [illegible].

It will be interesting to see whether Mr. McDonald, who is one of the top figures in the national labor movement, is able to quiet his internal opposition. No doubt he is already taking steps in that direction.

But Mr. Rarick and his supporters show few signs of being amenable. They apparently feel that they have a basis for continued opposition.

Merry-Go-Round—

Congressmen Pass Easter In Paris

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Despite the uproar over the Army's plan to fly a planeload of congressmen to Kentucky the weekend of the Kentucky Derby, several Congressmen slipped off the last week for Easter junkets all over the world.

Mr. Pearson

The Army canceled the Kentucky trip because of the bad publicity, but went ahead with a more expensive junket to Paris. A gay congressional party took off Thursday to spend Easter on the Seine as the Army's guests. They will also visit Heidelberg, Frankfurt and Berlin on what is officially billed as an "inspection trip."

Those taking the free European tour are Congressmen Rivers (D., S.C.), Green (D., Pa.), Lankford (D., Md.), Byrne (D., Pa.), Gubser (R., Calif.), Bray (R., Ind.) Osmers (R., N.J.), and Van Zandt (R., Pa.).

They will return April 29, following the Easter holiday. It used to be that Congress was too busy to shut down for a prolonged Easter vacation. But House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate leader Lyndon Johnson, the Texas twosome, have slowed down because of Johnson's heart condition. Like Eisenhower, Johnson tries to get away from Washington every two or three weeks for a rest.

Junketitis Gets Contagious

Meanwhile, congressional junkets are getting contagious.

Before Congressman Van Zandt took off for Paris, he had just returned from a junket to Florida and Cuba which he had organized for Navy and Marine reservists now serving in Congress. His group was taken on a "training trip" to Key West and Havana to study anti-submarine warfare.

In Key West, they were put up in ex-President Truman's summer White House. In Havana, they were royally entertained at a cocktail party by American Ambassador Arthur Gardner.

Those who participated in this pleasant training mission were Congressmen Van Zandt, Fulton (R., Pa.), Latham (R., N.Y.), Bates (R., Mass.), Saylor (R., Pa.), Wilson (R., Calif.), Ullman (D., Ore.), Selden (D., Ala.), Brooks (D., Tex.), and Rutherford (D., Tex.).

When Van Zandt returns from Paris, he has promised to arrange another training flight to Europe for his reserve unit.

Fulton and Selden also got back from Cuba just in time to catch a plane to Europe. They belong to House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, headed by Congresswoman Edna Kelly (R., Pa.), which is spending Easter in Europe. Making the trip with them are Congressmen Coffin (D., Me.) and Bentley (R., Mich.).

They are flying to Paris by commercial plane, though at the taxpayers' expense. From Paris, the Air Force will fly them to Vienna, Munich and London.

More Trips

Congressmen Cooley (D., N.C.) and Sadlak (R., Conn.) plan to leave next week for Nice, France, to attend the Interparliamentary Union. Congressman Keating (R., N.Y.), already in Europe, will join them at Nice. They will finish out their Easter vacation visiting Paris and London.

Two other congressmen decided to spend their Easter holiday cruising in the sunny Caribbean. They are Congressmen Flood (D., Pa.) and Dempsey (D., N.M.) who sailed Thursday for Panama as passengers on the government-owned Panama Lines.

Congressmen Walter (D., Pa.) and McGovern (D., S.D.) left early for their Easter junkets. Walter has been hitting such high spots as London, Paris and Madrid. McGovern is visiting the Middle East.

The Kentucky trip would have been cheap compared to what these Easter junkets are costing the taxpayers.

NOTE: Not all congressional travel, of course, is bad. Many of those touring Europe will spend part of their vacations studying problems firsthand that they will have to vote on later.

Edgar's Ditch

Ike's economizing elder brother Edgar ought to realize that economy begins at home. He could have saved the taxpayers $47,000 spent to improve drainage around his home if he had been as vigorous an economizer as he wants brother Ike to be.

Edgar Eisenhower has a home at American Lake near Tacoma, Wash., which sometimes floods. When it does, it threatens various lawns and docks around the lake including that of brother Edgar and that of Col. James Stack, retired former aide to General Eisenhower in World War II.

So the Army Engineers this winter dug an 1,800-foot drainage ditch to take flood water from American Lake into Lake Sequalitchew, below. The cost was $57,000, of which $43,000 was paid by the U.S. Engineers, $10,000 by the owners around the lake, and $4,000 by the county. This will keep the lake's level at a constant height of 223 feet above sea level, instead of rising at times as high as 238 feet.

The Army Engineers were not at all anxious to dig the ditch. It meant money out of the budget which they hadn't figured on — and they believe in economy too. But pressure came from up above to dig, and they dug. They would not say where the pressure came from, and Edgar Eisenhower could not be reached for comment.

A New Magazine, 'Western World'

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The breach in the Atlantic Alliance, revealed by the invasion of Egypt, can never be repaired by governments alone.

It can only be repaired by a fuller and franker understanding of our honest differences and our common interests by the leaders and peoples of the NATO countries. This will take a heroic effort.

Mr. Drummond

One such heroic effort is getting underway. Obviously a very harmful purpose will be served if these differences are discussed only in an atmosphere of crisis-headlines and recrimination.

One thing that has been needed for a long time is a candid, responsible intellectual exchange which can reach the whole Atlantic community, nourishing public opinion and leadership opinion.

To meet this need a group of leading Europeans and Americans have done a bold thing: they have joined to bring into being an independent, international monthly magazine designed to be a voice for thoughtful citizens on both sides of the Atlantic.

Two Editions

It is a privately financed, privately owned publication. It has no government support and no government subsidy. That is good. Actually it forestalled an ill-conceived attempt by the NATO governments to publish an official NATO quarterly which would have been as informative as a watered-down government communique covering up disagreements over the weather.

The new magazine is being published with the same contents in both the United States and Europe. The North American edition is "Western World" and is printed in English. The European edition is "Occident" and is printed in French with the possibility of other language editions later.

The American editor is Edgar Ansel Mowrer, long-time foreign correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, and the European editor is Rene Dabernat, foreign editor of the Paris Presse.

You have to count this a risk-ful, selfless venture when you consider the commercial vicissitudes of the printed word. The days of inexpensive pamphleteering are over. At least four major, nationally circulated American magazines have dropped by the wayside during the past six months.

"Western World" contains letters of indorsement from nearly all the foreign secretaries of the NATO countries. But the magazine is wholly on its own. No government is in a position to control its contents. It will succeed or fail by its own efforts.

'Novel Remedy'

"Western World" rests on a premise which has long seemed valid to me, that the outcome of the cold war will be determined not by what the Soviet Union does against us, but by what the Western world does or fails to do — in its own behalf. The editors of the new magazine put it this way:

"No Western people can now overlook the stark fact that the community will live or die by its own decision (or indecision).

"Its disappearance would be a catastrophe of the first magnitude for all the peoples concerned.

"To forestall it, 'Western World' proposes a novel remedy — neither harsh recrimination nor syrupy appeals for agreement where there is no agreement, but a continued two-way conversation, an unremitting exchange, plus a readiness to listen — in short a truly intercontinental forum."

Candid Debate

The first issue, 74 pages looking rather similar to Harper's magazine, makes an exciting beginning in this direction. There is no treacle and there is no pointless scolding. There is a candid, perceptive debate on the subject, "Is American anti-colonialism helpful or harmful?" Between Paul Reynaud, former French Prime Minister and Adlai Stevenson, former American presidential candidate. Other topical debates are scheduled for subsequent issues.

It will be good if "Western World" succeeds because if it does it will help the Atlantic community gather to itself the strength needed to survive and surmount the disruptive tactics of Moscow.

Soviet 'Tours' Resume

By K. C. THALER

LONDON, April 22 (UP)—Soviet leaders have revived their series of propaganda missions which they believe helped boost Russian prestige in Southeast Asia and Europe last year.

The new tours range from Peiping to Vienna and Helsinki.

With Hungary safely back under the yoke of Moscow and signs of unrest gradually disappearing from other satellite countries, Soviet leaders apparently feel the time has come to restore the shaken Russian prestige outside the Soviet Union.

China Is First

The new campaign, though so far smaller in scope than that of 1956, is reminiscent of the whirlwind tour undertaken last spring by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev.

The Moscow "travel season" opened last week with President Klementi Voroshilov's visit to Peiping. The 76-year-old president described his trip to Communist China as a "good will visit." Keeping the Sino-Russian alliance in good working order is one of Moscow's chief preoccupations.

Voroshilov will also visit Indonesia, where President Sukarno shows ever-increasing signs of swinging his government to the Left, and the Mongolian Peoples Republic.

Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy prime minister and the No. 1 trouble shooter in the Kremlin, travels west this week. He has scheduled a trip to Austria "to maintain contact with Austrian statesmen and political figures."

Soviet Eyes Austrians

Speculation in diplomatic circles has it that Mikoyan's mission will be two-fold: to win Austrian good will by a possible offer to release the country from some of its economic commitments to Russia, and to caution the independent nation against any alignment with the West.

Moscow has been watching Austria for some time and has expressed displeasure with the countrys' attitude during the Hungarian revolution, when Austria became a willing host to thousands of Hungarian refugees.

Russia's reminder to Austria at that time that it is a neutral country carried threatening overtones.

The tour campaign will reach its climax early in June when Bulganin and Khrushchev resume their travels outside the Soviet frontier with a visit to neighboring Finland.

Diplomats predict the two leaders will make the most of that trip by reverting to the line of peaceful co-existence. This line marked their tours in Asia and Britain last spring when they liberally advanced the soften-the-line strategy in the wake of their much-debated de-Stalinization campaign.

Ike Tosses Budget-cut Job Back to Congress

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has thrown much of the responsibility for the federal budget back at Congress. He has given Congress a lot of advice, which probably will be ignored, on how it should exercise its control of spending.

Mr. Lahr

The President also told the House its votes on appropriations bills have included some heavy cuts which won't save the taxpayers any money. He didn't use the term but he meant the cuts were phony. Many of them were.

Eisenhower poured out his thoughts on the budget Thursday in a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn. It was written in reply to a House resolution, adopted last month, asking for his recommendations as how to make "substantial reductions" in his budget.

Size Of Reduction

The President indicated that even if Congress makes a cut, only about 500 million dollars of it will actually be taken off his 72 billion dollar spending budget for next year. This would be little more than a pin prick alongside the spending slashes of two to five billion dollars proposed by potent figures in Congress.

Eisenhower pointed out that his budget is really two budgets in one. One of them is a spending estimate of nearly 72 billion dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The other is a request for new spending authority—largely in appropriation bills — authorizing spending not only in the coming fiscal year but also in future years. The President also pointed out that about a third of the money to be spent in the next fiscal year was granted by Congress in past years.

Of the House-approved reductions in appropriations bills, now amounting to more than one billion dollars, the President politely told Rayburn:

"Some of the House 'cuts' have involved large sums that the executive branch is compelled by law to pay. 'Cuts' of that kind do not save money and must be later restored through supplemental appropriations unless the governing statutes are revised."

The "Mandatory" Spending

Eisenhower computed that 24 per cent of his federal budget, or almost 18 billion dollars, covers spending rigidly fixed by law like interest on the national debt, veterans benefits and public assistance grants. The House voted to cut administration budget requests for the last two items a total of 225 million dollars with full knowledge it was saving nothing in the long run.

The President also calculated that 63 per cent of his next year's budget is slated to go for national security and related expenses, leaving only 9 billion dollars or 13 per cent for possible non-defense reductions.

Congress undoubtedly will challenge him on his 45 billion dollar item for national security because it includes the foreign aid program. Even so, Congress will not know how much any cuts it makes in the foreign aid program will reduce spending for the coming year.

The Lighter Side—

A Rank (sic) Amateur Creates New Perfume

By DOC QUIGG

GRASSE, France (UP)— This charming town on the French Riviera is known the world over for —as the publicity says—"Its scent factories." And here, with my own hand, I may have set the perfume business back two centuries.

For the laboratory of "La Parfumerie Fragonard," using my own impeccable taste for smells as my creative guide, I whipped up a symphony of lovely stinks that may become known within the trade as (shudder) "Quigg No. 1" (unshudder).

However, my commercial name for it is "Oh!" The exclamation point belongs in the title because that's the way the first man to get a whiff of the finished product uttered the word. Also, such a title could mean anything the prospective buyer's mind might be attuned to, and thus promote sales smartly.

Now, you might think that inventing a perfume is simple. Not a bit of it. You've got to study —and have talent. La Parfumerie Fragonard, a factory that sells perfumes to various companies that market it under their own ravishing names, has been operating since 1782 and never has let an amateur into the sacred precints of the laboratory. Not even the employes can get in. Too many secret formulas floating around.

The Nose Knows

But the press is powerful. Five of us touring newsmen talked our way in, through factory general manager Jean Paoli. Shortly we were joined by owner Jean Francois Costa, and then by Paul Leget, the "parfumer" of the place who mixes and blends. A man in job is known as "the nose", because he's always sniffing at his work, and occasionally running to a window to clear his smeller.

Leget's father and grandfather both were "noses".

"When the Nose get a cold, we wait," Paoli explained. "Only the Nose can find out what is in the mixtures. There are only 25 or 30 real noses in all France."

In the laboratory, I sniffed out my choices at the mouths of various jugs. The Nose provided a base compound for my creation composed of 15 flower essences dominated by jasmine, rose, and hyacinth. While the Nose sat at a tiny scale with the weights, I created. First, 30 grams of the base in a flask.

And Then . . .

Then: 5 grams of tobacco essence (from Africa); 5 grams of geranium bourbon (leaves from Madagascar); 5 grams of tangerine peel (from Sicily); 2 grams of orange leaf oil (local stuff); 2 grams vertyver (a root); 10 per cent of exaltolide (a fixative).

All these essences are in liquid form. The nose stirred my creation. I took the flask and thrust it under the nose of Len Faulkner, features editor of the New York World-Telegram & Sun. He greened at the guts, looked sick, left the building.

They added the proper alcohol to my flask and labeled it: "Oh! Doc Quigg." It must now mellow for three months or more — like wine—before the nose whiffs it critically and renders a verdict. I have given them first sales rights. However, Costa pointed out that this is the first amateur perfume ever created in his factory.

Theatre Party For Clubwomen Is Benefit

Westmoreland County clubwomen will be given the opportunity to spend annevening at the theatre and in doing so to aid the County Fund for Retarded Children.

Under the supervision of the County Federation of Women's Clubs a party has been planned for Friday evening, May 31, at the White Barn summer theatre near Irwin.

This date will be previous to the opening of the theatrical season and the play to be presented has not yet been announced. Area clubs will be provided with tickets and there will also be a homemade candy sale in which all local clubs will be asked to cooperate.

Two Showings Of Children's Play Planned

Arrangements have been made for two performances next Monday, when the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre presents its final production of the season here. There will be one showing at 10 o'clock in the morning and a second one at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Both will be staged in the Monessen High School auditorium.

The two shows have been arranged in order to give a large number of students the opportunity of seeing them. Tickets will be distributed to each of the school principals and will be available at school.

Mrs. Elizabeth Costa is the general chairman of this activity and she will be assisted by a large number of club members, who will act as ushers and supervisors for the children.

Third Play of the Year

This is the third play of the year for the young Monessen theatregoers, who over the past few years have become familiar with the popular medium of entertainment, the stage play. The shows are sponsored by the Monessen Business and Professional Women's Club and the two previous shows have attracted a large crowd of students.

Next Monday's show will be the popular, Robin Hood and the Golden Arrow", which is the story of a young English boy, who has fled to the safety of Sherwood Forest for protection against the realm of the unpopular "King Harry".

Attractive Scenery

The setting is a particularly attractive one and the three acts are laid in Sherwood Forest on a Summer morning, a mountain dale and near Nottingham Town. Russel C. Stang designed the sets for the Grace Price production, which is being directed by Faye Parker, of radio, television and stage experience. Donna Dawson designed the costumes and Tom Dennis is company manager.

Bride-elect Donice Lehew Honored at Shower Here

Miss Helen Schumm entertained on Saturday evening at her home, 1444 Graham Ave., for bride-elect Donice Lehew at a miscellaneous shower. Pink and blue were the colors used in the decoration of the home and luncheon appointments.

Miss Lehew is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lehew, of Arch St., Belle Vernon, and is the bride-elect of Jay Ferree Schumm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay C. Schumm, Graham Ave.

The Lehew-Schumm wedding has been planned as an event of Saturday, June 1, and will be solemnized in the First Presbyterian Church of Belle Vernon.

Miss Lehew is a senior at Bellmar High School and Mr. Schumm is stationed at Florida with the U. S. Navy.

Games Played

The guest list at Saturday's party included 28 friends of the bride-elect from Monessen and Belle Vernon. Games were played and a number of prizes were awarded.

The honored guest was presented with many gifts, which were placed on a large table decorated with Spring flowers. At the close of the evening the gifts were opened.

Assisting Mrs. Schumm in serving the luncheon were Mrs. Donald Lehew and Miss Rebecca Mountsier.

Quota Members In Social Meet On Wednesday

The April meeting of the Monessen Quota Club, which was cancelled last Wednesday due to Holy Week, has been announced as a dinner session for Wednesday evening at 6:30 at Rego's in Charleroi.

Two major club events are being planned by the club for the month of May. On Wednesday evening, May 1, at Johnson's there will be a dinner meeting highlighted by the installation of officers.

On Thursday evening, May 9, the club is sponsoring the annual "Food and Fashion Revue" at the High School auditorium. This will be in conjunction with the Peoples Natural Gas Co. and with several local merchants.

Many prizes will be given and there will be other special features planned for the affair. A number of committees have been appointed to work on this showing of summer fashions and new cooking methods.

Eagles Ladies Group Will Sponsor Party

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Eagles will sponsor a card party tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Aerie Home, on Schoonmaker Ave. It is open to the public and there will be prizes and refreshments.

Mrs. Mary Rubachko and her committee will be in charge. Assisting her will be Mrs. Angeline Imbrogno, Mrs. Mary Maykovich, Mrs. Jean Ciglar, Mrs. Velma Renner, Mrs. Settina Provenzano, Mrs. Mary Gins and Mrs. Alice Ratica.

Meeting Set By Association And Auxiliary

On Thursday evening there will be a combined meeting of the Monessen Sportsmen's Association and the Ladies Auxiliary to be held at the club house.

Plans have also been announced for a social affair for the two groups, which will be in the form of a covered dish supper. It will be held on Saturday evening at 6:30 in the club house and George Cousins will be chairman of the social committee.

Program Features Meeting Of Local D.A.R. Members

Mrs. Gordon Harrington, Mrs. Lynn Cooper and Mrs. John Hiatt were hostesses for the April meeting of the Charleroi-Monessen club of the Monongahela Valley Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which was held at Century Inn.

Miss Annette Carson opened the meeting with an Easter message and after the ritualistic opening she conducted the business session.

Announcement was made that Flag Day will be observed with a luncheon at Century Inn on June 8. The speaker will be Mrs. Macdonald Reed, of Erie, Western D.A.R. Director in Pennsylvania.

The evening's program was conducted by Mrs. Frank Stockton, who reviewed several articles from the D.A.R. Magazine. She discussed the President General's message for the month in which she emphasized the fact that the liberties available in America must be guarded by the knowledge of its history.

There was a general discussion concerning some of the historic points of interest in Pennsylvania and West Virginia and of significant interest was the first brick house, Pennsburg, which was the home of William Penn erected in Buck's County. Mrs. Stockton also told of the first president of the National D.A.R., who was Carolina Scott Harrison, wife of the 23rd president of the United States. She then read excerpts from "The Mighty Missy" the story of the U.S.S. Mississippi by Florence Ogden.

It was announced that several members of the club attended the National Continental Congress held by the organization in Washington, D. C. last week. They were Mrs. Kenyon Nichol, of Bentleyville, Mrs. J. Russell Snyder, Mrs. Vernon Eagye, Mrs. Arthur Weddell, of Charleroi and Mrs. W. B. Waite, of Monessen.

At the close of the meeting luncheon was served by the hostesses.

B P W Members To Have Session On Wednesday

The April meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which was postponed from last week, due to Holy Week will be held on Wednesday evening at 6:15 at Sweeney's.

The theme of the program will be "National Security", which is being arranged by the national security committee of which Mrs. Jean Githens is chairman.

Guest speaker will be Mary Vano Moore and there will also be a film shown titled "Time of Disaster". It will be shown and discussed by Joseph Baborsky and is a movie that has been shown on television on programs stressing National Defense.

Fire-Balling Podres In Top Shape Again

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—A pair of 2-0 shutouts separated by 19 nerve - wracking months happily answered several questions today for fire-balling Johnny Podres.

Go back to October of 1955 and you'll recall it was Podres who gave Brooklyn its first world championship with a 2-0 final game World Series win over the New York Yankees. Then it was into the Navy for Johnny and questions arose as to whether he was a flash in the pan and whether a bad back might keep him from regaining the crest he breasted so briefly.

But Johnny answered all those questions Saturday as, in his first start since taming the Yankees those many months ago, he returned exactly as he left with a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Deserves A Break

It was a vastly relieved young man, ignoring the ache in his arthritic back, who celebrated his welcome home win.

"Sure, the back hurts," he grinned. "But I've had to learn to live with that. It's the worry of waiting and wondering that bothered me more."

Certainly the "third back kid" deserves a few breaks at last. He has, at 24, cleared such obstacles as a bad back, sore arm, emergency appendectomy and a service hitch which stopped him again just as he was hitting the heights.

Evidence of Greatness

This son of an upper New York state miner gave evidence of greatness his first year in organized ball when he had a 21-3 record with Hazard of the Mountain States League in 1951.

In 1953 he was up with Brooklyn and, after a promising 9-4 season, was going great in 1954 when he underwent an emergency appendectomy in mid - June. That cost him a month as he posted an 11-7 mark but the next season he charged into the batting cage and hurt his arm.

Johnny failed to complete a game in his last 13 starts as he won only nine against 10 defeats in 1955—but then came the Series. He beat the Yankees in the third game and then carried Brooklyn home with his final game triumph. One year later when the same two teams met in the Series, Johnny was in a naval hospital.

So the questions were there as he came back this spring. But as far as Johnny and the Dodgers are concerned, they all were answered in his first start Saturday when he overpowered the Pirates.

Lee Walls Is Injured by Ump

BROOKLYN (UP) — Four stitches were taken Sunday in the right index finger of Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder Lee Walls as a result of an accident Saturday with umpire Tom Gorman. The umpire, hurrying to get "on top of the play," nicked Walls' finger as the outfielder slid past him into third base.

HOUNDS AT CALIFORNIA HIGH TODAY

MFL to Kick off Campaign

Monessen's Midget Football League will kickoff a novel fund drive tonight which officials feel will solve the league's financial problems for the next ten years.

Everyone is invited to the kick-off meeting at the Raven Club, beginning at 8 p. m. Fund chairman Alex Kachmarik will be in charge.

The intent of the campaign is to raise money to finance the construction of two elaborate concession stands at Memorial Stadium.

In return for the buildings, the School Board has offered the MFL concession privileges for the next ten years. It is estimated that profits from the concession stands will be adequate to keep the MFL going for the next decade.

Invest in Future

"This will be an opportunity for Monessen sport fans to invest in the future of the league," pointed out Kachmarik. "We're asking for a chance to put the league in a position where no future public solicitation will ever again be necessary."

Once the concession stands are erected, parents of the MFL players will operate them. They performed that chore last season and netted the league almost $700.

The take would have been even greater except for inadequate facilities and a $400 rental fee. Those figures would seem to indicate that the MFL's finance worries will be over if the current drive raises enough money to erect proper stands.

To Take $2,000

Kachmarik and his committee estimate that it will take $2,000 to build and properly equip one 0-foot stand on the adult side. It is planned that all labor in the project will be volunteered.

In the fund drive, the MFL plans to seek support from industry, business, professional men, organizations and individuals.

"We want everyone interested in the MFL to attend tonight's meeting," said Kachmarik.

What Happens When Lights Go Out in Majors

CHICAGO (UP) — American League President Will Harridge promises to dig up an answer today to baseball's biggest riddle so far in 1957 — what happens when the lights go out?

Everybody was left in the dark at Washington's Griffith Stadium Sunday when a short circuit prevented eight arc-light towers from functioning. The incident occurred when umpires ordered the lights turned on at the end of five innings of the second game of a Senators - Baltimore Orioles twin bill, with the Senators leading, 2-1.

The umpires waited an hour and, when nobody could fix the lights, called the game. But what happens now? Is the game finished or isn't it?

Umps Don't Know

Umpires Joe Paparella, Ed Hurley, Ed Runge, and Frank Umont admit they don't know. They said this was the first time such an incident has occurred. There doesn't seem to be anything in the rules that covers it and there is no such thing as a "suspended game" in the American League.

Harridge, at his office here, said, "We don't want to make any official statement until we get the full facts of exactly what happened — and what made the lights go out. However, we expect to have a decision ready today."

As far as Charley Dressen, the outspoken manager of the Senators, is concerned, he thinks "the game is official" and his Senators should be credited with a 2-1 victory.

To Make Request

But manager Paul Richards of the Orioles said he will request the game be resumed "at the point of interruption."

Richards claimed that to give the Senators a victory because of a light failure in their own ball park would "establish a dangerous precedent."

"I'm not saying this was deliberate on the part of Washington officials," said Richards. "I'm merely pointing out the dangers such a decision would involve in the future."

Italian Widow Wins $211,300 in Pool

ROME (UP) — Mrs. Marietta Gheza, a 32-year-old needy widow, won $211,300 Sunday by being the only person to pick correctly the result of all 13 matches in the Italian football pool weekly contest.

Mrs. Gheza, who lives with her widowed mother and supports an eight-year-old daughter, hit the jack pot with a 16 cent bet.

Monessen Women After Another Bowling Title

Babe Kroskie, captain of Monessen Fifth Ave.'s splendid women's bowling team, admitted today that the pressure is beginning to tell.

The Fifth Ave. girls are gunning for their third straight Metropolitan Tournament title. If they achieve it, they will earn permanent possession of the huge rotating trophy.

That's something which has never happened before. So tradition is working against the locals.

Actually Monessen is no sure-thing to even reach the Metropolitan Tournament, which is staged each year to determine the Pittsburgh district champion.

Only titlists from the top women's leagues are invited. The past two seasons, Monessen has gone into the show as the representative of the Mon Valley Ladies League.

Nine Games Ahead

At the moment the Monessen girls are nine games in front of the MVL race, assuring them a spot in the league playoffs.

The post-season action will begin on Friday, May 3 when the second, third and fourth place teams meet at a site yet to be selected. The top pin-getter will then face Monessen the following Friday for the 1957 MVL title.

"We've been in first place all season," commented Kroskie, "but I have a funny feeling we are going to run into trouble in our rolloffs."

Kroskie then hastened to add: "I hope not, since we want that Metropolitan trophy."

Current Standings

Current standings in the MVL show Monessen, 79-17; Uniontown, 70-26; Donora, 60-36; Charleroi, 56-40; Fredericktown, 54-42; Monongahela, 53-43; Bentleyville, 51-45; Connellsville, 43-53; Belle Vernon, 38-58; Scottdale, 34-62; and Vestaburg, 31-65.

Monessen boasts the top three average bowlers in the league: Lucy Faltz, 157; Kroskie, 150 and Mary Palm, 148.

Archers Stage Team Shoot

Archers at the Charleroi Archery Club tuned up for next Sunday's WPFAC Conference meet at Clairton by staging a team shoot of their own.

No less than five teams competed. Members of the winning club and their scores follow:

B. Ramsay, 339; Bill Pulaski, 391; M. Stagi, 173; and Don Frederick, 210. Total 1,113.

Other scores:

Team 1 — R. Shaffer, 401; P. Gillen, Jr., 245; George Fleming, 159; and J. Coulson, 124. Total 929.

Team 2 — Bud Williams, 422; J. Kostelansky, 242; Bliss Hyatt, 233; Bob Sutch, 105. Totals 1,002.

Teams 3 — Lew Farkas, 336; Harry Lane, 274; W. B. Stathers, 265; and Steve Perok, 162.

Team 4 — Garry Anderson, 378; Louis Tatsch, 309; Joe Kolessar, 294; and T. Shaffer, 88. Total 1,069.

New School Romps in Juniata College Meet

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (UP) — United Joint High School won seven first place tophies in the Juniata College Invitational Scholastic Relays.

The New Florence (Indiana County) entry Saturday took the two mile and 880 relay features and copped five individual field events.

George Draksler, of United, who won the shot put with a toss of 51 feet three inches and the discuss with a heave of 130 feet, nine inches, was named most outstanding athlete of the meet. He was presented a trophy by the Huntingdon Daily News. Both marks were meet records.

Another United Joint star also set two meet records. Duane Dunmire was credited with a 10-foot 11-inch pole vault and a javelin toss of 165 feet, seven and a half inches.

Bill Davis gave United its other first in the broad jump.

Terry Wade, of Lewiston, ran the winning mile in 4:46.7 and topped all high jumpers with a leap of five feet 10 inches.

Three other track records were established despite a muddy field. Clearfield ran the 440 relay in 47.2 seconds; State College took the spring medley in 3:55.5, and Lewiston edged United in the mile relay with a time of 3:38.7.

Sports Car Race Will Lure Many

Every year the Cumberland, Md. National Championship Sports Car Races have been bigger and better. Judging from the response of drivers, the 1957 show will be no exception.

Blanks were mailed only last Wednesday to some 9,000 members of the Sports Car Club of America but already approximately 200 biographical sketches have been returned by drivers from fourteen states indicating they intend to participate.

The fifth annual speed show is more than a month away but already a record entry list is predicted. Sponsored again by the Cumberland Lions Foundation under the technical supervision of the Steel Cities Region of the SCCA, (Pittsburgh), the event will get underway Friday, May 17, at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Test Runs

Inspection of cars will take up the entire opening day, with test runs for Saturday and the big all-day eight-race program on Sunday.

Among those already entered are Charles C. Wallace of Chevy Chase, who will be driving a Porsche Spyder. Wallace was 1955 national Jaguar production champ and has raced at Cumberland for the past five years.

In the recent races at Sebring, Florida, he won in index of performance and was first in the Porsche Class. Three years ago he drove in the Sebring Races, teaming with Carroll Shelby, one of the biggest names in American sports car racing.

Roberts After NASCAR Win

SPARTANSBURG, S.C. (UP)—Glen (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., will be seeking his fourth straight win on the NASCAR Grand National circuit next Saturday in South Carolina's first race of the season here. Roberts in third in national point standing.

Monessen Seeks Second Win in First Road Game

Monessen High's baseballers will make their first road appearance of the season today, showing at California.

The Greyhounds, who have a 1-2 record at the moment, haven't ventured out of Ninth Street Park as yet.

They figure to run into real trouble at California. The Trojans are good as usual.

Coach Don Cornell has blended a handful of veterans with a whole raft of good-looking sophomores and juniors. His lads, so far, have divided in two league appearances.

Well rested Frank Scrip, junior southpaw of the Trojan mound staff, will throw for the home team. Monessen will probably counter with Myron Sepitko, a junior right-hander.

California will probably open with Stan Skibo behind the plate, Carmen Quasanella at first, Aaron Huhn at second, Ewing Bell at short and Doug Gasher at third.

In the outfield will be Ken Kutak, Joe Sepesy and Thomas Mathew.

Several Changes

Monessen coach John Hayduk plans several changes. To begin with, he intends to move his only returning veteran, Carl Crawley, from third base back to the outfield.

Jimmy Barker will come off the bench to handle third. He is a pretty good sticker and should give the team added punch.

Al Bost will also get his chance today for MHS, playing first.

The rest of the MHS lineup will be about the same; John Kaminsky behind the plate, Jim Baker at second, Samp Thrope at short and Mike Kunsa and Jimmy Sepesky in the outfield.

Hayduk has made it clear that this will be a year of experimenting for the Hounds. He plans to give everyone a chance as he builds for the future.

One other Section 17 game is scheduled today. Monongahela will appear at Charleroi.

That's a big one. The Cougars have a 2-0 record at the moment while Monongahela has a 2-1 slate. The winner will take first place.

Tomorrow Donora will show at Bellmar. That game was originally scheduled for today but Donora officials requested that it be postponed a day.

Pitt Wins in Dual Meet

OXFORD (UP) — The University of Pittsburgh defeated Miami Unviersity, 69-53, in a dual track meet Friday, capturing nine of 15 first places and setting a Pittsburg discus record.

Wesley King of Pittsburgh broke his school's discus record with a throw of 149 feet, 8¾ inches, about eight feet short of the Miami field record for the event.

The previous Pitt mark of 148 feet was set in 1927 by former Pittsburgh star Gilbert Welch. The Miami record of 157 feet, 6 inches was set in 1955.

Miami's Dick Clevenger won the mile in 4:20.7 and the two mile in 9:56.3 to score the only double win of the day.

USW To Drill At Ninth Street

Monessen USW will practice today at Ninth Street Park beginning at 5 p. m.

Manager Ralph Nicksich has invited all interested candidates to report at that time.

Tomorrow the Monessen Ozarks will work out at the Ninth Street Diamond. On Friday, the Ozarks will go to Jacobs Creek for an exhibition game.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

The 'Take Away'

For amusement purposes and for trying to check a lone-held theory, I often stand by a tee and watch just the first 12 inches of the backswing of various golfers who tee off there.

On the basis of this action, generally called "the takeaway," I try to determine whether the upcoming shot will be a bad one or a good one. I am almost never wrong in my prediction.

If the start of the backswing is smooth, unhurried, fairly low along the ground, and not accompanied by a noticeable sway of the body, I know I am about to see a good shot. If it is jerky, fast, abrupt, or accompanied by a sway, I figure the shot will likely be a bad one.

If there is a combination of any two of these faults, I resign myself to witnessing a bad golf shot. If all four faults are apparent in this start of the backswing, I turn my head away and give up.

The way to avoid these faults is simply to try to make the start of your backswing smooth, unhurried, and fairly low along the ground.

Michigan State Trackers Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—Michigan State loomed a little larger in track heavens today with freshman Willie Atterberry the brightest star amid the galaxy of cinder greats.

Unknown, unheralded and unconcerned before Saturday's 15th annual Ohio Relays here, Atterberry chopped off seven-tenths of a second from the world mark for the 600-yard run. He grabbed first place in the 300-yard to leave the meet one of two double winners.

Atterberry's 1:08.5 edged the old mark set by Ben Eastman of Stanford in 1933.

Only other two-time winner of the meet sponsored by Ohio State University was Ted Wheeler from the Chicago Track Club. Wheeler, an Olympic 1,500-meter entry, won the mile in 4:16.9 and the 1,000-yard run in 2:13.8.

Bucs Top Bums, 6-3, Then Lose

Drop Nightcap, 7-4; Arroyo Goes Today Against New York

NEW YORK (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates send southpaw Luis Arroyo against the New York Giants' Ruben Gomez today in the opener of a two-game series at the Polo Grounds.

Arroyo will be making his second quest for victory this season, having already been charged with a loss, while the Giant righthander goes after his second victory against no defeats.

The Pirates combined two-hit pitching with a home run spree to win the opener of a doubleheader against the Brooklyn Dodgers Sunday, 6-3, but dropped the nightcap, 7-4.

Frank Thomas, Paul Smith and Dick Groat shelled Don Newcombe from the mound in the third inning of the first game with consecutive homers. The three circuit clouts tied a major league record and enabled the Pirates to hand Brooklyn its first loss of the season. Groat's homer was his first in two years.

Purkey Great

Bob Purkey turned in a masterful relief job, allowing only one hit after taking over in the second inning when starter Vernon Law pulled a muscle in his right side. Elroy Face relieved Purkey in the ninth and gave up the Dodgers' second hit of the game, a three-run homer to Carl Furillo.

Bob Skinner also homered for Pittsburgh.

Ron Kline and Clarence Churn yielded five runs in the second inning of the second game and the Pirates could never catch up.

Don Drysdale, after hurling seven scoreless innings, loaded the bases and forced in a Pirate run by hitting a batter. Clem Labine relieved Drysdale and put down the Pirate rally.

(First Game)

Pittsburgh	013 000 200—	6 9 0
Brooklyn	000 000 003—	3 2 3

Law, Purkey (2), Face (7) and Foiles. Newcombe, Valdes (3), Koufax (7) and Campanella. Winning pitcher — Purkey (1-0). Losing pitcher— Newcombe (0-1). HR —Thomas (2nd), Smith (1st), Groat (1st), Skinner (1st), Furillo (2nd).

Thomas Tries to Rattle Valdes

BROOKLYN (UP) — Rookie pitcher Rene Valdes appearing in his first major-league game for the Brooklyn Dodgers, successfully passed the "Frank Thomas jitters test."

At one point in his relief effort Sunday against the Pirates at Ebbet Field, Valdes had runners on first and third with two out. Thomas, the Pirate runner on third, decided to see if the gangling Cuban would fall for an old trick.

"Hey, let's see the ball a minute," he called to the mound. If Valdes had automatically responded by tossing it over, Thomas was all set to break for home plate.

But Valdes nonchalantly called time out, and only then lobbed the ball to third. It was finally retrieved by umpire Hal Dixon while the frustrated Thomas grinned.

Fitzsimmons Is High on Bold Ruler in Derby

NEW YORK (UP)—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, dean of American race horse trainers, is so high on the Kentucky Derby chances of his Bold Ruler he is planning to see his first rose run in 15 years.

The 82-year-old Mr. Fitz revealed today he will ship Bold Ruler to Churchill Downs either Tuesday or Wednesday and will follow the Wheatley colt to Louisville on Sunday.

Mr. Fitz, who doesn't like to travel, said he wants to be around to supervise all of Bold Ruler's workouts leading up to the Derby on May 4, in which the winner of last Saturday's Wood Memorial in track record time will hook up with the Calumet Farm's dangerous pair of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege.

Bold Ruler displayed a lot of courage in winning the Wood in the record time of 1:48.8 for a mile and one-eighth.

With Eddie Arcaro up, Bold Ruler led from the start, but gave way to Gallant Man on the final bend. However, with Arcaro whipping him steadily, Bold Ruler fought back to nip Gallant Man at the wire.

DeFendis Is Favored Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Angelo De Fendis, 24-year-old knockout specialist from Brooklyn, ruled a 9-5 favorite to beat Canadian lightheavyweight champion Yvon Durelle tonight in their TV - radio 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

De Fendis, who has kayoed 10 of the 18 opponents he has beaten in a professional career that numbers only 20 fights, defeated tough Jerry Luedee in his last start. Prior to that bout he had Rocky Durando in the first round. Rock Durando in the first round.

Durelle, a 27-year-old product of New Brunswick, hopes to use De Fendis as a stepping stone toward a Canadian heavyweight title bout with Dominion champion James J. Parker.

'Aged' Pitchers Keep Chisox, Braves Atop Races, Unbeaten

By FRED DOWN

The 35-year-old wings of Jim Wilson and Warren Spahn enabled the Chicago White Sox and Milwaukee Braves to remain unbeaten today and soar into undisputed possession of first places in the major league pennant races.

Wilson, who turned 35 on Feb. 20, pitched the White Sox to their fourth straight victory when he outduelled ex-Yankee Tom Morgan in a 1-0, 10-inning thriller over Kansas City Sunday while Spahn, who'll celebrate his 36th birthday Tuesday, scattered nine hits in the Braves' 3-1 win over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The White Sox took over the top rung in the A.L. when the Boston Red Sox dealt the New York Yankees their first setback, 5-4, and the Braves achieved a similar pinnacle in the N.L., when the previously unbeaten Brooklyn Dodgers split a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Wilson Comes Close

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter in 1954, made a bid for his second classic with a perfect game for seven innings and a no-hitter for eight. Hector Lopez finally broke the hitless spell in the ninth and the Athletics collected two other hits. Wilson struck out eight and walked two for his first win.

Pinch-hitter Sherm Lollar, who knocked in five runs on Saturday, delivered a sacrifice fly in the 10th to send home rookie Jim Landis with the decisive tally. Morgan, who pitched a four-hitter on opening day, yielded only one hit in the first nine innings and was touched for only three in all.

Spahn settled down after a shakey four frames to hold the Redlegs to one hit in the last five innings and chalk up his second win of the year. Del Crandall singled home two runs in the fourth and Hank Aaron doubled and Joe Adcock singled for Milwaukee's other run in the eighth. The loss was the fourth straight for the disappointing Redlegs.

Homer Barrage

Frank Thomas, Paul Smith, Dick Groat and Bob Skinner walloped homers as the Pirates beat the Dodgers, 6-3, in their opener but five runs in the second inning enabled the N.L. champions to breeze to a 7-4 decision in the nightcap. Don Newcombe was routed by the Bucs in the first game, but Clem Labine relieved 20-year-old Don Drysdale to save the nightcap.

Jack Dittmer, ex-Brave second baseman, singled with the bases filled in his first A.L. appearance to give the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Washington Senators, 11-9, in the other A.L. games. The Senators led the second game, 2-1, after five innings when a power failure shut off the Griffith Stadium lights and the umpires asked A.L. President Will Harridge for a ruling on the "contest."

Two other N.L. doubleheaders wound up in splits. Sam Jones struck out 11 of his former teammates as the St. Louis Cardinals gained a 6-3 triumph after the Chicago Cubs won their opener, 5-3, in 11 innings and the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the New York Giants, 8-5, after Johnny Antonelli outduelled Robin Roberts, 2-1, in their first game.

Cooper Is Back On Player List

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Walker Cooper, 42-year-old St. Louis Cardinals coach, has been reinstated to the active player list because of an injury suffered by first string catcher Hal Smith. Smith suffered a split index finger in Sunday's first game with the Chicago Cubs.

Dodgers Open In Jersey Today

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UP) — It's opening day for the Brooklyn Dodgers today—for the third time this season.

The Dodgers open the Jersey City section of their schedule today with the first of their eight scheduled "home games" at Roosevelt Stadium. The occasion is to be marked by the usual ceremonies with Jersey City Mayor Bernard J. Berry throwing out the first ball before hurlers Roger Craig of the Dodgers and Jim Hearn of the Phillies meet in the game.

The Dodgers first opened their season on April 16 with the Phils at Philadelphia. Two days later they opened again at "home" in Brooklyn with the Pirates.

Littler Earns $10,000 in Golf At Las Vegas

By HAL WOOD

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — Horses for courses, they say at the race tracks.

And the same adage applies to golf courses.

Gene Littler, who had not won a tournament for a full year, annexed his third consecutive $10,000 jackpot when he won the $40,000 Tournament of Champions here Sunday.

As the touring brigade headed for Louisville, Ky., and the Derby Week Open there, the blond young swinger from San Diego again vaulted into the ranks of "men to beat" for the money on the summer tour.

Badly off his stock for the last eleven months, Gene went to work with a vengeance a month ago preparing to defend his title here.

It paid off—because he won by three strokes from four men who tied up for second—Jimmy Demaret, Dow Finsterwald, Billy Maxwell and Billy Casper. Par for the 72 holes was 288 and Littler, playing in rains, high winds and cold was three under par for the distance with a 285. Last year he won by four strokes and in 1955 he made a run-away of it with a 13 stroke lead.

The only man possibly happier than Littler at the triumph was singer Frankie Laine, who had purchased Gene again in the big Calcutta pool. The triumph was worth $95,000 gross ($80,000 net this time to Laine. In the three years, Frankie has netted $190,000 off the superb playing here by Littler.

The four men who tied for second each collected $2,230, while Dick Mayer, Don January and Ed Furgol each got $1,326. Seven strokes behind the lead came Masters champion Doug Ford and Arnold Palmer, each with 292, good for $1,270.

Russian Soccer Star Punished

MOSCOW (UP) — The star forward on the Soviet All-Union soccer team which won the Olympic title has been suspended for three games for conduct "incompatible with the dignity of a Soviet sportsman." Edouard Streltsov was set down for punching an opponent in a Russian league game in Odessa on April 11.

Marlene Hagge Adds To Her Golf Winnings

LAWTON, Okla. (UP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge, last year's top money winner on the ladies professional golf circuit, continued her current tour today with a second tournament victory to her credit, the $5,000 Lawton Open.

Mrs. Hagge, a Del Ray Beach, Fla., product playing out of Dallas, Tex., won the $880 first prize Sunday with an uncomplimentary 38-36—74, two over par and poorest score of the top four finishers. However, earlier rounds of 70 and 72 gave her a 54-hole total of 216, three strokes better than her nearest opponent.

Betsy Rawls finished second with a pair of 35s for a total of 21 9and $616 in prize money. Tied for third at 220 were Ruth Jessen, whose 69 was the best score of the day, and Wiffi Smith, winner of the Dallas Open. They received $48 4each.

College Faculty Pay Raises Are Called for in Expansion Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—A group of educators called today for pay raises ranging up to 125 per cent for college and university professors during the next 10 years.

The educators said faculty salaries are "lamentably" low and the severe shortage of qualified teachers in some fields will grow even worse unless substantial wage increases are forthcoming.

The recommendation was described as a first step in preparing the nation's 1,855 colleges and universities for a decade of tremendous expansion.

It was the highlight of a report by a 20 - member Educational Policies Commission after a four-year study. The commission, headed by Dr. Herman Wells, president of Indiana University, was appointed jointly by the National Education Assn. and the American Assn. of School Administrators.

President Eisenhower's own committee on education beyond high school is also studying the problems but has not yet made its report.

The Educational Policies Commission, in a 152-page document entitled "higher education in a decade of decision," reported that:

—The tidal wave of postwar children which already has washed over the public schools soon will hit the colleges. Enrollment, now about three million, will increase steadily until it reaches between five and seven million in 1970.

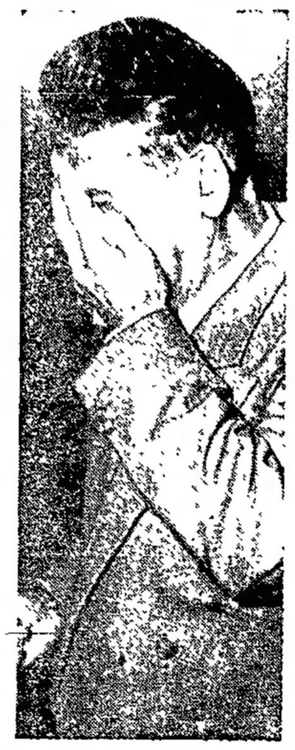
—"It seems impossible" to absorb all of the increase by expansion of existing schools and "a number of new institutions," particularly junior colleges and "community colleges" will be required.

—To meet rising education costs, colleges will need increased financial support from their own alumni, from corporations, churches and foundations, and from all levels of government. Without recommending a specific program, the commission said "increased federal aid seems essential."

The commission said the "most urgent" need, however, is improving the lot of teachers who, on the average, now receive $5,243 a year. It said highly-qualified faculty members are deserting the campus in droves for better-paying jobs in business and industry.

It said salaries should be raised to about twice the present level by 1970 "and preferably" within the next 10 years. Boosts of 5 to 10 per cent a year were recommended, starting at once.

The result, it said, would be a serious "deterioration" in the quality of college education.



128 TAX REFUNDS — Under arrest in Alhambra, Calif., on charge of attempting to bilk the government in an income tax refund scheme, Roy F. J. Mahoney, 54, hides his face from camera. U. S. Attorney Laughlin E. Waters claims Mahoney allegedly filed at least two fictitious claims in each of the 64 U. S. Internal revenue districts.

151 Taxes on Loaf of Bread, Foundation Says

NEW YORK (UP) — The Tax Foundation, a private research organization, said the price of bread has doubled in the past 20 years, reflecting the fact that there are 151 taxes on a single loaf.

The foundation arrived at this total by counting the federal and state taxes paid by a grocer in Indianapolis who sold the bread, the baker, the companies making ingredients going into the loaf and the railroads that hauled the ingredients.

A partial breakdown showed that the grocer paid four federal taxes and the baker, a national firm owning its own trucks, paid 15 state taxes of one sort and another.

A Kansas City flour mill which supplied the baker paid seven federal taxes and eight Missouri state taxes. The railroad which carried the flour to Indianapolis paid five taxes to uncle Sam and an assortment of taxes to the three states it passed through.

Taxes also were paid by the New Orleans sugar mill, the Chicago salt warehouse and malt plant, the Cincinnati shortening company and the various railroads carrying these ingredients.

"Assuming all these outfits passed along part of their tax burden in prices, there were at least 151 taxes on this single loaf of bread sold by the Indianapolis grocer."

Followers Class Meets at Home Of June Walker

The Youthful Followers Class of Webster Methodist Church met recently at the home of June Walker, who was also devotional leader. Her topic was "I Come to the Communion Table".

The business was in charge of Alberta Alonzo, president. Reports were made by Charlotte Brooks, acting secretary, and Libby Foulk, treasurer. Ruth Adams read a letter from a missionary who said his mission, which is supported by the class, received four overseas boxes.

The mother-daughter banquet will be held May 8 at Crawford's, it was announced.

Lunch was served by the hostess. Also present were Carrie and Helen Konsugar, Gloria Foulk, Winona Grilli, Dorthea Volk, Alleen Mullen, Dorothy Wenzel and Dolores Howenstine. The next meeting will be held at the home of Dorothy Wenzel.

Rose Steiner Is Recent Hostess At Card Club

The Town and Country Pinochle Club met Wednesday at the home of Rose Steiner in Lynnwood.

Prizes were won by Donna Henderson, Colleen Bucci and Vivian Novakowich. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Agnes Wagner. An Easter theme prevailed.

Others present were Helen Dutchko, Marie Hayduk, Florence McKito, Helen Rebak, Lucy Capacasa. The next meeting will be held at the home of Donna Henderson.

Mrs. Joseph Painter, of R. D., Belle Vernon, is a surgical patient in Westmoreland Hosoital, Greensburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Demcek, of Monongahela, were guests yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Patterson.

First Family Leads Parade

AGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower led an Easter parade here Sunday.

The First Lady wore a new outfit by two of the nation's top designers at Easter services in the jampacked Reid Memorial Church here.

She wore a black and white silk print dress and jacket by Molly Parniss and a white silk, flowered hat by Sally Victor. Her outfit also included white gloves, black sheer stockings, and black pumps. Her corsage was white orchid.

The President wore a single-breasted Oxford gray silk suit, white shirt and silver-gray tie.

Auto Heir Breaks Leg in Pool Fall

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Auto heir Horace Dodge II broke his leg in a fall at a private swimming pool here Sunday.

He underwent surgery at Good Samaritan Hospital for setting of the fracture.

Rehoboth Church Mission Society Holds Meeting

The Rehoboth Church Missionary Society met at the church Wednesday with Louetta Hayden, devotional leader, speaking on "The Things That are Caesar's". Topic leader Violet Winstone spoke on "Journey into Faith".

Margaret Piersol read from scripture, Louetta Hayden offered prayer, Ann Rechichar gave a reading, Lila Cinerski presented a solo, and Mae Gilmour also said prayer.

Reports were given by Sara Tricketts and Frances Colvin. It was decided to send aid packages to victims in flooded areas. Members sre requested to give any used Christmas cards to Lena Watts or Eleanor Heath. The cards have been requested by various institutions.

A retreat will be held July 10 at Mt. Vernon Church. A motion was made to send delegates to one of the summer training schools in June. An invitation was received from Donora Presbyterian Church to attend a service at which a foreign missionary will speak. The service is to be held May 6.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dean Mori, Mrs. D. H. Wells, Mrs. Margaret Greenwalt, Mrs. Bonnie Lattimore and Ruth Browneller.

Church Group to Collect Clothing For Korea Needy

The Webster Presbyterian Church Missionary Society met Wednesday in the Sunday School rooms with Mrs. George Guest, president, in charge. Elmer Gillingham was devotional leader and Muriel Kriston, topic leader. The latter spoke on "Indonesia".

June Cupples and Margaret Riedel gave "Echo of the Presbyterian Conference" and Dora Richie offered prayer.

Reports were made by June Kupples, secretary, and Dora Richie, treasurer. The group decided to collect clothing for needy Koreans. The clothes should be turned in at the next meeting.

Hostesses were Dolores Koons and Marie Lenzie. Others present were Dorothy Byers, Rosena Gillingham, Anna Hilterbrand, Agnes Leonard, Pauline Kriston, Bill Maurer, Nora Maurer and Lois Bainbridge.

A Real 'Guy'

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP) — Iowa's "shirtsleeve" state senator, Guy Butler, 69, this week completes 10 years of legislative service without ever having worn a jacket in the Senate chamber. Butler says he doesn't see why he should wear a jacket when women clerks enter the chamber in short-sleeved dresses.

Chemists and Metallurgists check, test, inspect, and supervise production from ore to finished steel

Engineers of all kinds are essential in the various phases of steel production

Operators of intricate and expensive equipment must be skilled and experienced men

CAREERS IN STEEL

offer opportunities unlimited

Steel men know their jobs.

Today nearly half a million steel men have been on the job with the same employer for 5 years or more—close to a quarter million of them with one employer for 15 years or more. They are engineers, scientists, artisans, salesmen, accountants, and many others with a wide range of skills.

Why do they like their jobs?

They have good pay, good and safe working conditions, the finest tools and equipment.

They have plenty of opportunity for advancement because steel is a rapidly growing industry. Since World War II steel production capacity has been increased more than 40 per cent. Plans announced this year call for further stepped-up expansion.

As all industry grows, the needs for steel grow. As steel expands to meet these demands, careers unfold for men in many fields—men now in the industry and men who will join it in the years to come.

America and Steel Must Grow Together

Accountants must be expert, with steel's transactions running into the billions

Senator Stands By Efforts to Slash Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd today stood by his determination to try to slash President Eisenhower's budget by $6,500,000,000. He said Eisenhower's recently proposed budget reductions were "totally inadequate."

The Virginia Democrat is a leader of the Senate economy bloc hoping to whittle down Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget for the 12 months starting July 1.

Byrd said his figures show the government already has 70 billion dollars available for the new fiscal year from money appropriated by Congress in recent years. Added to this year's request, he said, the amount available would total about 140 billion dollars.

The President, sensitive to the high economy fever Congress is running this year, suggested in a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) last week that $1,342,000,000 be shaved from his requests for new "spending authority."

Eisenhower said, however, that less than half his proposed cuts in "spending authority" actually would show up in reduced federal spending next fiscal year.

Veteran Showman, Nils T. Granlund, Killed in Crash

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Veteran showman Nils T. Granlund known to his public as NTG and to his friends as Granny, was injured fatally Sunday in a taxicab accident on the Las Vegas Strip.

The 57-year-old producer-director died at Southern Nevada Hospital several hours after he was injured when the cab in which he was a passenger collided with a car near the Riviera Hotel. Granlund was thrown to the pavement by the impact.

Word of Granlund's death shocked his many entertainment world friends. Eddie Cantor, whom NTG introduced to radio for the first time, said, "I just can hardly believe it. He was a wonderful guy and discovered many people who now are stars."

NTG also was credited with introducing Harry Richman and the late Al Jolson to radio audiences.

As a producer he helped develop such stage and screen stars as Jean Harlow, Joan Crawford, Alice Faye, Ruby Keeler, Ethel Merman and Marie McDonald.

There are 15 passenger bridges over the Thames river in London county.

London Police Still Can 'Run'

LONDON (UP) — Back in the early days of London the first municipal police were called the "Bow Street Runners," and thereby hangs a tale.

A patrol car of Scotland Yard's famed "Flying Squad" chased a stolen Jaguar racing car through the downtown London streets Sunday night at 60 miles an hour.

The police car rammed the fleeing car just outside the Bow St. police station. The noise of the crash brought out more police, who ran down the fleeing driver on Bow St.

Queen Elizabeth Observes Birthday

LONDON (UP — Queen Elizabeth, who had planned to celebrate her 31st birthday anniversary in private Sunday, was serenaded by about 5,000 persons who jammed the east terrace of Windsor Castle to sing "Happy Birthday to You."

The Queen's official birthday anniversary will be celebrated June 13. The royal birthday anniversary is always observed in June because of the more favorable weather for parades and outdoor ceremonies.

State Pardons Board Investigation Resumes In Harrisburg Today

HARRISBURG (UP)—The legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board, which resumes hearings here today after an Easter recess, appears to be searching for corrective legislation rather than evidence of alleged political influence in board actions.

The hearings have apparently turned up no concrete evidence of improper conduct on the part of either the board or persons appearing before it.

The inquiry was established by the lawmakers specifically to look into the case of David Darcy, convicted-- Philadelphia killer whose execution was set aside by Gov. George M. Leader last September.

The legislative resolution setting up the investigation said "the opinion prevails in many quarters that political considerations influenced (the board) in this and in other recent cases."

However, the principals in the case, including Democratic leader Matthew H. McCloskey and Marion Ford, Darcy's aunt and one-time secretary to McCloskey, flatly denied bringing any political pressure against the Pardons Board or the governor to obtain clemency for Darcy.

Although charges of "sinister influences" were made by Republicans in the 1956 election campaign the committee has so far before it no one to bring evidence of misconduct in the case.

Changes Suggested

The committee has, however, heard recommendations from several prominent jurists and attorneys that the board be reorganized to eliminate whatever possibility of political pressure exists on the board as it is presently constituted.

Judge William R. Toal and Arthur P. Bretherick, both of Delaware County, have recommended that the committee write a constitutional revision which would remove incumbent administration officials and replace them with a full-time board—either elected or appointed — but for a term of about 10 years.

The present Pardons Board members said such a revision is unnecessary and voiced doubt as to whether such a change would effectively remove the clemency board from the threat of political pressure.

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), committee chairman, has asked the deans of six Pennsylvania law schools to make suggestions for the improvement of the pardon and parole system in the state.

It was reported that none of the school recommendations received last week proposed removing the present board system.

Two Missing After Boat Goes Over Dam

YORK HAVEN, Pa. (UP)—Police and firemen today continued their search for two men missing since their small boat went over a 30-foot dam in the Susquehanna River near here Saturday.

The missing men are John L. O'Dowd, 42, 18 Wayne Ave., New Cumberland, employed at the Middletown Air Force Depot, and Thomas Ehrhorn, 28, 303 Bridge St., New Cumberland.

O'Dowd's wife, Frances, 26, was rescued by fishermen after she grabbed a life preserver and drifted downstream. She said she believed the other two preservers fell into the water and she last saw her husband and Ehrhorn bobbing about in the river after the fall over the 30-foot dam.

York Haven and Goldsboro firemen had six motorboats on the river Sunday and police patroled the shoreline and small islands in the area but found no trace of the men.

This One Hit Home

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UP)—The recently-purchased home of Mark McClellan was condemned by the city building inspector's office because it was "falling apart." McClellan is Imperial County building inspector.

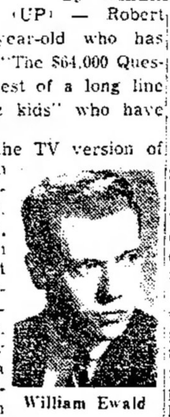
Long List of 'Quiz Kids' Making Good

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Robert Strom, the 10-year-old who has won $192,000 on "The $64,000 Question", is the latest of a long line of former "quiz kids" who have made good.

Rob was on the TV version of "Quiz Kids" from March to September, 1956. Last January, Rob appeared on CBS-TV's "Giant Step" and carried off a college scholarship. He's currently shooting for a quarter of a million dollars on "Question."



William Ewald

None of the other 200-odd graduates of "Quiz Kids," a show which ran on radio and TV for 13 years, were able to pick up as much loot in one quick gobble as Rob. But the records show that the alumni of "Quiz Kids" have done pretty well for themselves since they shucked their knee pants.

Prehaps the most famous grad is Smylla Brind who was born in Vienna and schooled at Paris and other waystops. You know her as Vanessa Brown.

Miss Brown, who graduated from UCLA in 1950, has dabbled in movies, TV and politics. She has appeared in such flickers as "Tarzan and the Slave Girl," "The Heiress," "The Late George Apley" and "The Foxes of Harrow."

Her TV credits include "Lux Video," "Leave It To The Girls" and a stint on "My Favorite Husband." Last August, she turned up at the Democratic Convention in Chicago as a worker for Adlai Stevenson.

Joan Bishop, who appeared 31 times on "Quiz Kids", is a singer. Among her early claims to distinction—growing a full set of teeth at eight months.

Joan, 30, and single, has sung with the San Carlo Opera Company and in such NBC-TV productions as "War and Peace". A mezzo-soprano, Joan also has appeared as an entertainer at the hotels Pierre and Henry Hudson in Manhattan.

Harve Fischman, who left the show in 1946 after 181 appearances, went on to take a degree in theatre arts at UCLA. He has worked as an associate producer on the shows of Red Skelton, Robert Q. Lewis and Johnny Carson. He's married, lives in Manhattan and is now a free-lance writer.

Jack Lucal, who made 65 appearances on "Quiz Kids", served in the Army in Germany, spent two years at Harvard and graduated from Georgetown. He has been in training with the Jesuit order and is currently teaching in Ethiopia.

Claude Brenner, the South African boy with 69 appearances, got a master's degree from MIT in aeronautical engineering and works in Boston for a research firm.

A Phi Betta Kappa

Cynthia Cline got a master's degree at Northwestern where she was a Phi Beta Kappa. She taught college English for a while and is now married to a Ph.D., Henry Garrett Curme, who works in Rochester, N.Y. for Eastman Kodak.

Dick Williams, a math whiz who was on "Quiz Kids" for 212 shows, got his B.A. at the University of Chicago in two years, studied architecture at the University of Pennsylvania and got a B.S. from Purdue in engineering. He was in the Army for two years and has since entered the foreign serivce.

And, of course, Joel Kupperman, who was on "Quiz Kids" 400 times, the high mark for the show. Another math expert, he went on to the University of Chicago, and, when last heard from, was a teaching assistant. He's now 21.

"None of us have ever heard from Joel at all," says Joan Bishop. "He turned out to be the Garbo of our group."

The dove has long been symbolic of peace. However, during its breeding season, this bird often fights bloody battles with rival birds.

Baby not 'Fully Born' Until Four Weeks Old

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It has been said that, in a sense, a baby is not fully born until he is about four weeks old.

About the only sound he can make during the first month of life is to cry. Along about the end of this period, he begins to make low throaty noises.

Because portions of his system are not yet organized completely, he'll wake fitfully, sneeze and choke occasionally.

Sudden noises will startle him. Upon hearing them he may cry, his body may become rigid and he may move his arms outward with fingers outstretched and clutching.

Yet, this is entirely a reflex action. A tot of this tender age doesn't reach with his hands. Rather, he reaches with his eyes.

The most active and adept muscles he has at this stage of life are the 12 tiny muscles of his eyes.

This doesn't mean that he can see in any real sense. A newborn baby is almost blind. An infant has only 20-2000 vision.

This means he can see at a distance of 20 feet what a person with normal, fully developed eyesight can see at 2,000 feet.

Even if he could read, an infant would not be able to recognize a letter on the nearby wall unless it was 2½ feet tall.

Gradually, a baby's vision becomes better and better. By the time he is one year old, he has 20-150 vision. At the age of two he has progressed to 20-40, still short of the 20-20 standard.

Only rarely are babies born with teeth. Some mothers mistakenly identify little white pearl-like spots which appear on the gums as teeth.

These spots are simply small hard collections of cells that will cause no harm and will disappear naturally in time.

An infant has a lot of developing to do during his early life.

On working days, three out of every four men in the United States shave. However, only 16 per cent of them shave every day in the year.

Steel Output Skids

CLEVELAND (UP)—Steel ingot production skidded to 90 per cent of capacity last week, the lowest since the steel strike last summer, according to Steel Magazine.

However, the metalworking publication noted the 90 per cent production rate produced 2,303,500 net tons. Since the industry now has expanded facilities the same tonnage would have been a 93.5 rate in last year's limited capacity.

"One factor in the half point decline to 90 per cent last week was April 21, which was Good Friday," Steel said.

"For the first time the day was a paid holiday in the steel industry."

Bad weather, sluggish auto sales and substantial wire imports, rated as factors in the production decrease, according to the magazine.

Despite the steady decline in production the industry still hopes to set a 120-million ton record this year because of its increased capacity.

A weekly average of 90 per cent of the total operating capacity would set that mark, Steel said.

The increased supply of steel and easier demand are spurring steel companies to go farther afield for business. In doing this, they are absorbing part of the delivery charges to meet competition, Steel said.

The uptrend that started in Steel prices last December has halted. Another upturn is due at midyear when the Steelworkers get an automatic boost in pay.

Corning Veterans to Be Honored Thursday at Anniversary Dinner

Six veteran employes of the Charleroi plant of Corning Glass Works will be awarded 50-year service pins and $1,000 checks at the 105th anniversary dinner for company employes at Twin Coaches on Route 51 Thursday evening.

The six employes to be recognized for a half century of service are:

Biagio Lepore, John Fero, Harry Powell, John Turtzer, Joseph J. Urash and John Yeager.

Lepore, who died last August 27, will be honored post-humously, having completed 50 years of service at the time of his death in 1956. He had worked as a side lever presser at the Charleroi plant before retiring Jan. 1, 1950.

Fero moved to Charleroi from Elmira, N. Y., as a small boy and at a young age entered the Macbeth-Evans Glass Co. doing miscellaneous jobs on a hand shop. He eventually took over his own shop as a presser.

Powell came to Charleroi from Merryport, England, in 1906 and that same year joined the shipping department at Macbeth-Evans. In 1923 he was named shipping and warehousing foreman and during World War II was assistant supervisor of the traffic department. He was supervisor in the department when he retired in 1953.

Turtzer joined Macbeth-Evans in 1906, the same year he came to this country from his native Austria. He first handled miscellaneous jobs in the blowing room and for 24 years worked on a five-mold machine press shop. He later transferred to the maintenance and construction department as a painter and carpenter and in 1953 became an electrician.

Urash started to work as a 13-year-old carry-in boy in the tank blowing room. In 1910 he transferred to the Toledo, Ohio plant of Macbeth-Evans, and five years later returned to Charleroi as a gatherer on a blow shop. He held this job until 1947 when he became a watchman. He was employed as a gate watchmen at the time of his retirement on Sept. 1, 1953.

Yeager learned the glassblowing trade under old craftsmen in his native Austria and immediately upon arriving in Charleroi, in 1906, was appointed a gaffer on a German system shop at the Macbeth-Evans plant. He headed his own shop for 45 years, being retired as a gaffer in 1951. Two of his sons are also employed at the Charleroi plant.

Man Is Sucked From Airplane At 18,000 Feet

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UP)—Jack R. Nash, 32, of Memphis, Tenn., plummeted to death Saturday night when the window of a pressurized French airliner blew out 18,000 feet above the wastes of northern Iraq.

A power dive to low altitude preserved the other passengers in the Istanbul-bound plane from injury in the sub-zero upper air.

Nash was sleeping with his head against the window of the U.S.-built Super-G Constellation when the glass gave way 25 miles south of the Iraq "oil capital" of Kirkuk. The rush of air out of the pressurized cabin sucked him with it into the icy substratosphere.

The window blew out with a shattering crash, and the 40-below zero temperature of the outer air caused a dense fog in the 70-degree warmth of the cabin.

In the excitement, no one noticed immediately that Nash was missing. His seat-mate was in the washroom when the window failed.

"We discovered that Mr. Nash was missing only afterwards," the stewardess told investigators here.

Other passengers could say only that "we saw nothing."

The only traces of Nash remaining in the cabin were a shoe, two cameras and a fez he had bought in Iran.

Nash was on a leisurely world tour. He had spent several days in Karachi, Pakistan, before boarding the plane that carried him to his death.

Plane Chopped By 'Something'; Forced to Land

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—A Frontier Airlines twin-engine DC3 with 26 persons aboard made an emergency landing here Sunday after ten feet of its left wing was chopped off "by some object" in turbulent weather.

Carlton Foster, the airlines' operation chief, said about a quarter of the plane's wing was clipped off as the airliner hit a downdraft. He said, "The plane was hit by an object, but we don't know what."

The airliner was en route to Phoenix from Prescott, Ariz., carrying 23 passengers and a crew of three.

Capt. Dale R. Welling made a perfect landing nearly an hour after the plane lost part of its wing. The passengers reportedly remained calm and there was no panic on the crippled airliner.

Marines Begin Panama Games On Wednesday

BALBOA, C.Z. (UP) — Some 15,000 U.S. Marines and airborne infantry will land on opposite sides of the Isthmus of Panama Wednesday to simulate attack on the Panama Canal in America's biggest Caribbean war game since World War II.

U. S. Air Force and Marine planes will cover the landings.

A reinforced Marine regiment, supported by warships, will land from the sea near Cristobal on the Atlantic side of the narrow neck of land linking Central and South America.

At the same time, an Army paratroop battalion will be establishing an "airhead" on the abandoned Rio Hato Air Base, on the Pacific coast some 90 miles west of Panama City.

As soon as the strip is secure, a second Army battalion will be flown in as reinforcements.

For purposes of the maneuver, it will be assumed that the troops at Rio Hato have been driven back from the canal and are in defensive positions. The Marines will be assumed to have seized part of the canal's west bank as a preparation to sealing the inter-ocean waterway.

The maneuver will be observed by U.S. and Latin American officers and by diplomats accredited to Panama.
